

ARMY SONGS

HOLINESS.

Tunes.—Whither pilgrims, 315, Eb; Room for Jesus, 153, D; Song Book, 734.

1 Not my own, but saved by Jesus, Who redeemed me by His Blood;

Gladly I accept the message: I belong to Christ the Lord.

Not my own, to Christ, my Saviour, I, an'v'ing trust my soul; Everything to Him committed, While eternal ages roll.

Not my own, my time, my talents, Freely all to Christ I bring; To be used in joyful service For the glory of my King.

FREE AND EASY.

Tunes.—Hallelujah to the Lamb, 34, Eb; Manchester, 47, G.

2 Jesus, I love Thy charming name, 'Tis music to my ear; Fain would I sound it out so loud That earth and heaven should hear.

Chorus.

Hallelujah to the Lamb, Who died on Mount Calvary! Hallelujah! Hallelujah! Amen!

Yes, Thou art precious to my soul, My Transport and my Trust; Jewels to Thee are gaudy toys, And gold is sordid dust.

Thy grace still dwells within my heart, And sheds its fragrance there, The noblest halm of all its wounds, The cordial of its care.

SALVATION.

Tunes.—Remember me, 59, Ab; Belmont, 24, Bb; St. Peter, 307, F; Song Book, 6.

3 Alast! did my Saviour bleed, And did my Sovereign die? Did He devote that sacred head For such a worm as I?

Chorus.

Remember me, remember me, Was it for sins that I have done

He suffered on the tree? Amazing pity, grace unknown, And love beyond degree!

Dear Saviour, I can ne'er repay The debt of love I owe; Here, Lord, I give myself away, 'Tis all that I can do.

TERRITORIAL NEWSLETS.

(Continued from Page 9.)

Captain Francis Hant and Captain Essie Gough; Captain Gilbert Best and Captain Maud Reid; Captain Fred Johnson and Lieutenant Lettie Hoffman; Captain Wm. Beckett and Captain Maud Walker; Captain Daniel Hale and Lieutenant Edith Ntting; Captain Sydney Weeks and Lieutenant Ethel Whitaker.

Corps Cadet Violet, the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Maidment, has recovered sufficiently to enable her to leave the hospital, we are glad to say.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. Captain Merritt, of Edmonton, Alta., who has been poorly for some time, following an operation, is improving in health.

Captain Taylor, of Newmarket, while collecting for Self-Denial, met with an accident. He lost control of his bicycle, and in falling, put one of his thumbs out of joint, and received several bad bruises. The injured thumb had to be attended to by a doctor, and for several days the Captain will be unable to continue his work. But—his target is in sight!

The General to visit Canada

General W. Bramwell Booth will (D. V.) visit the Dominion during the first week of November next. He will conduct the Fall Congress in Toronto, and visit other large centres. Further particulars will be made known in due course.

THE COMMISSIONER

Toronto Temple, Monday, June 9. (Commissioning of Cadets.)
COLONEL AND MRS. GASKIN
Lippincott Street, June 8.

LT. COLONEL & MRS. CHANDLER
Peterboro, May 24 and 25.
(Accompanied by the Dovercourt Band.)

BRIGADIER & MRS. WALKER
Pavilion Street, May 24 and 25.
(Accompanied by Ensign Church.)
Whitby Farm, June 1.
(Mrs. Walker will not accompany.)

BRIGADIER HARGRAVE
Edmonton, May 22.
Wesssboro, May 23.
Saskatoon, May 24 and 25.
Prince Albert, May 25.
Regina, May 27.

MOORE JAW, MAY 28.
Brandon, May 29.
Portage la Prairie, May 30.
Winnipeg 11, May 31 and June 1.

Winnipeg 11, June 2.
(All Candidates or intending Candidates should endeavour to see the Brigadier at the above places.)

BRIGADIER CAMERON

Fenelon Falls, May 24 and 25.
Toronto Temple, June 1.

THE TERRITORIAL STAFF BAND.

Berlin, May 24 and 25.
Riverside, May 29.
Oshawa, June 7 and 8.

MAJOR MORRIS.

Woodstock, May 24 and 25.
(Accompanied by Hamilton I. Band.)

MAJOR AND MRS. MOORE
West Toronto, May 25.
STAFF CAPTAIN WALTON.
Port Hope, May 24 and 25.
(Accompanied by the Belleville Band.)

ADJUTANT AND MRS. BLOSS.
Brookville, May 24 and 25.

AN ENTIRELY NEW SERVICE

THE DEDICATION of the present Session of CADETS to Officership in The Salvation Army will be conducted by

THE COMMISSIONER

in The Salvation Army Temple, James and Albert Streets, in the afternoon of

MONDAY, JUNE 9th, AT 3 O'CLOCK.

THE CHIEF SECRETARY, COLONEL SYDNEY MAIDMENT, all Staff and Field Officers of Toronto, and the Territorial Staff Band, will be in attendance.

Tickets of admission to this service can be secured, without charge, from Lieut. Colonel Chandler, 24 Albert Street; Brigadier Taylor, 125 Sherbourne Street, and all Commanding Officers in the city.

Niagara Falls.

Captain G. Bonyage, of Toronto, visited us on May 10th and 11th. On Sunday afternoon, he, with Captain and Mrs. Nock, led the first meeting of the season in the park.

The town authorities have removed the restrictions which they, in previous years, enforced, and the Army is given a free hand. The people greatly appreciate these meetings. On Sunday night, two souls sought salvation.

Captain and Mrs. Nock have secured their Self-Denial target, and have already made several new Soldiers.

The Trouble at Strathearns.

Up to the time of going to press, no further news has been received regarding the imprisonment of the Officers and several comrades of Strathearns (Donington 11) Corps.

We would again express the hope of late weeks—that a just and sensible settlement of the unhappy affair has been reached.

Captain and Mrs. Parsons led the meetings at Chester, on Sunday, April 26th. In the morning, a man gave his heart to God. He had left the Hall, but, overcome by the stirrings of God's spirit, had to return. Another soul got saved after going home. On Wednesday, a half-night of prayer was held. Mrs. Major Moore leading.

Trenton, Ont.

We have great cause for rejoicing at Trenton, over the victory we have had with our Self-Denial Effort. The target was set at $100.00, and through the united prayers, faith, and labours of Officers, Soldiers, and converts, the target was "smashed."

Many of our dear comrades had never collected before, but nearly everyone doubled their targets. One sister, before starting out, asked her sister if she looked like The Salvation Army. The sister replied, "You will do for a beggar."

Since our last report four comrades have been enrolled as Soldiers, and a number of souls have been saved.

Gananoque, Ont.

On May 4th we had a Dedication service, when Corps Sergeant-Major and Mrs. Cummings gave their two children to God and The Army. The Hall, says T. H., was packed, and the Ensign gave a stirring address. Our converts are doing well.

Owing to a dense fog which hung over the City of St. Lawrence, the vessels which recently brought over two parties of emigrants, were considerably delayed, and the land conductors, including Mrs. Lieut. Col. Turner and Mrs. Brigadier Potter, were not able to leave Quebec until several days after the scheduled time.

WE ARE

Looking for You

READ THIS

To Parents, Relatives, and Friends:

We will search for missing persons in any part of the globe, befriend, and, as far as possible, assist widowed women and children, or anyone in difficulty. Address, Lieut. Col. REES, 20 Albert St., Toronto, marked "Enquiry" on envelope.

One Dollar should be sent with every case, where possible, to help defray expenses. Use of reproduction of Photo-graph, $2.00 extra. (Price of Card.)

Officers, Soldiers, and Friends are requested to assist us by looking regularly through the Missing Columns, and to notify Col. Rees if able to give information concerning any case, always stating name and number of same.

INFORMATION URGENTLY WANTED.

5253. DIXON, JOHN AND BROSIE. Born at Kingston-on-Thames; last seen by brother Fred at Windsor, Ontario. Fred, a married man, 26, born 1888. Fred, a married man, 26, born 1888. Fred, a married man, 26, born 1888.

5254. WILLIAMS, WILLIAM. One to Canada about 50 years ago from the U. S. B. He is believed to be in the U. S. B. He is believed to be in the U. S. B. He is believed to be in the U. S. B.

5255. HOGARTH, HENRY A. W. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5256. QUINN, WILLIAM. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, fair complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5257. DUFFY, JAS. ROSE. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5258. KIRKPATRICK, ANTON. A 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5259. JONES, FRANK. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5260. APPERLOOM, GEORGE. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5261. HOPKINS, WILLIAM. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5262. JAMESON, HENRY. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5263. FLETCHER, EDWARD. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5264. FLETCHER, EDWARD. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5265. FLETCHER, EDWARD. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5266. FLETCHER, EDWARD. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

5267. FLETCHER, EDWARD. An 26, 5'11" tall, dark hair, blue eyes, pale complexion, and slender build. Last known address, Hamilton, Ont. in old land mail from 1888 to 1890.

THE ## WAR CRY.

AND OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF THE SALVATION ARMY IN CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND

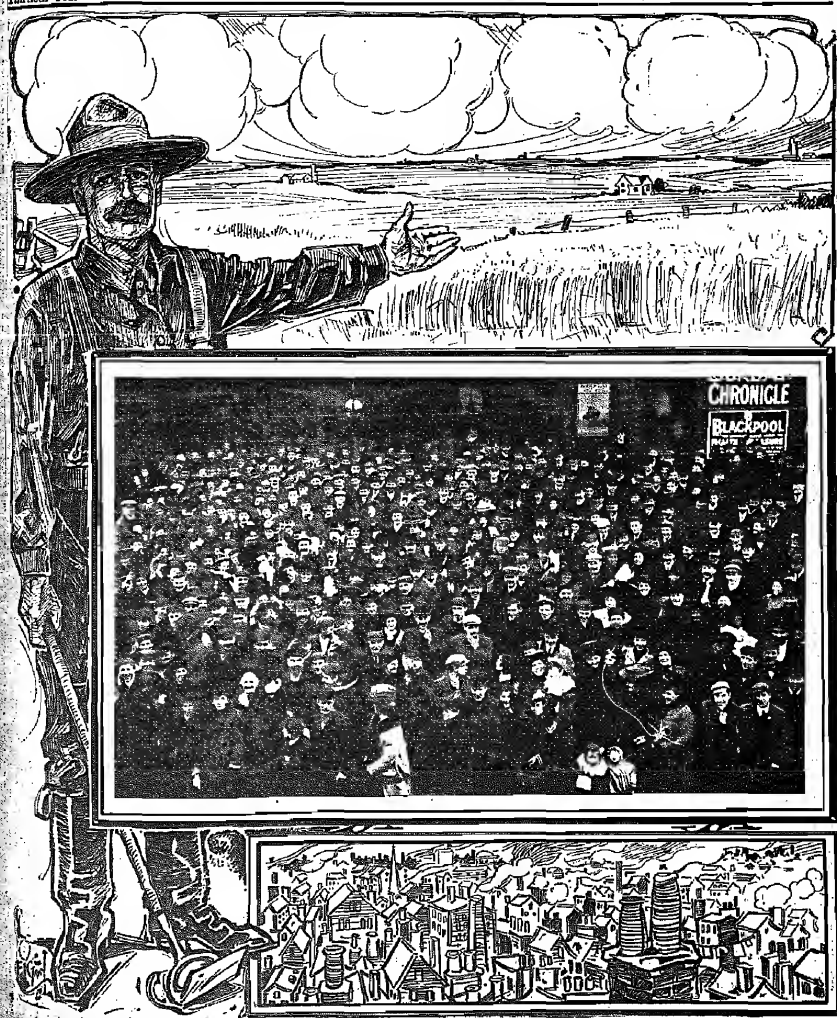

Thirtieth Year.

W. BRAMWELL BOOTH, Toronto.

TORONTO, MAY 31, 1914.

DAVID M. REES, Commissioner.

Price, Five Cents.

TO THE LAND OF THEIR BEGINNING AGAIN (See Page 7.)

WINDSOR'S LEARNERS.
(See Photo.)

The young comrades shown in this picture are all converts of the Corps, and although they have been "teaching" instruments only a few weeks, they are (says Correspondent G. Whittaker) making good progress in their studies under Bandmaster Downing, who stands in the background.

Brother Windsor stands to the left of the Bandmaster. Brother Hunt plays the bass. Brother Pellet, baritone. Brother Oram, tenor. S. Smith, side drum. God bless the coming Bandmen!

During the Easter week-end Commissioner Richards conducted a Bandmen's Council at Hastings, in the Wellington Division of New Zealand. Nearly two hundred Bandmen were present, representing eight Bands. On the Saturday night, the united Bands gave a festival in the Princess Theatre, and among the selections rendered were the familiar "Call to War" and "My Keeper," also "Songs of Joy, No. 2," "Songs of Comfort," and "Songs of Heaven."

Guelp Band continues to make progress under Bandmaster Burnett. We recently welcomed Drummer Griffiths, late of Walthamstow L. England (the Bandmaster's old Corps), and his work with the drum sticks attracts much attention. Brother Howcroft from Tinsley Green, Lancashire, Eng., strengthens the cornet section.

We are expecting four or five more Bandmen from the Old Country, and by the end of June we hope to have thirty-two or thirty-four men playing with us.

"The Wingham Advance," reporting the recent visit of the Territorial Staff Band, also gives almost a column to the history of Salvation Army music and facts about Brigadier Slater, the head of the Musical Department in London, England.

This year, so far, has created a record for the number of Bands which have and are securing new uniforms. Ottawa, Stratford, and Owen Sound have their new regalia, and a few days ago the Medicine Hat Band received their new tunics—fourteen in number.

Hamilton L. Peterboro, Riverdale, Dundas, and Fredericton Bands are on the Trade Department's books for new garb for this summer.

"Fine feathers make fine birds," the proverb says. But it takes something more than a bright tunic to make an ideal Salvation Army Bandman. In his case it is his spirit, not his looks. And the latter are (sadly too often!) a true indicator of the condition of the former.

An interesting event in the history of the Wyckwood Band took place on Thursday, May 8th, when Lieut. Colonel and Mrs. Chandler, accompanied by Staff-Captain Bloss, presented the Band with seven "Class A" instruments. The Colonel spoke very encouragingly to each Bandman as he came forward to accept his instrument, and commented highly on the work of the Bandmaster, Brother Higgins. After the presentation, the congregation rose and joined the Band in singing "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

Then the audience was treated to a march, and later listened to "Songs of Freedom."

In thanking the Band League members and friends, the Bandmaster said that about a year ago the Colonel and Ensign Patterson (the Corps Officer) approached him,

THE WAR CRY.
Army Musicians and Singers

GERMANY'S STAFF BAND.

Amusing Campaign Experiences.

The extended tour of the National Staff Band of Germany, which commenced on April 19th, has brought forth quite a number of interesting developments which have not been met with in previous tours, says the "Bandman, Local Officer, and Songster."

To a great extent (writes Brigadier Haines, Leader of the Band) the present tour is absolutely new ground from a Salvation Army musical standpoint, and it is quite curious, if not ludicrous, to gather the opinions of the authorities in the different cities with respect to Salvation Army musical combinations, Sisters in the Band?

In Dresden, for example, the Divisional Officer was called up to the head police official, who required reliable information as to the composition of the Band, its capabilities, etc. This was in consequence of an application which had been made for permission for the Band to play in one of the open spaces of spaces. We were able, fortunately, to place before him a long list of engagements which the Band was fulfilled with Governmental occasions, including the courtyard of the Royal Palace at Königsberg. This was certainly an astonishing eye-opener for him, and we are now awaiting developments.

Permission for Collection.

In another town our programme was placed before the authorities, which immediately brought a long document, with Governmental seals, to Headquarters. They had observed that No. 10 on the programme is the collection, and without a moment's delay they officially informed us that before a collection may be taken up the permission of the authorities must be obtained. In order to prevent delay in the same official document, they notified us that this they would not be prepared to give until we had proposed taking up a collection in their city, but we intend having a "plate offering." For this no Governmental permission is required, and it is obvious that for us the one is as good as the other.

On Saturday, May 17th, the "Ligeia Street" Band went by street car to the Sanitarium at Weston, near Toronto, to play to the inmates. The Street Railway Company provided cars free of charge for the twenty-five Bandmen, who, with Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Chandler and Adjutants Johnstone and Cornish, made the trip.

On arrival the Band began a programme lasting over two hours, during which time Mrs. Colonel Chandler and Adjutant Johnstone visited a large number of the patients in the sanitarium. The music and the kindly words of Mrs. Chandler were greatly appreciated by not only the patients themselves, but by their visiting friends, who were delighted at the action of the Band.

Before the Band left, cake and lemonade were supplied to each member.

On arriving back at the Citadel, the Band had a ten, one which the Divisional Commander presided. Following this, a special musical meeting was given.

Bass Drummer Moore has met with an accident while at his work a few days ago. His chest was rather severely scalded, but at the time of writing, he is improving. This incident, however, was not the reason why Lieut. Colonel Chandler appeared in the role of bass drummer during part of the musical programme at the sanitarium. You did well, Colonel!

Coming Bandmen! The Learners' Class of Windsor, Ont.

From the Staff Bandmaster's Note Book

The smallest note in a short selection played well is better than the largest note in a long selection played badly.

Measure the power of your playing not by the greatness of volume, but rather by its reception.

Success grows out of our struggles to overcome difficulties. If there were no difficulties, there would be no success.

Time is not all-common, but all-precious. Don't lose it, for it can never be found again.

Men of duty and musical skill will make a good Band, but the alone will beautifully the men.

On the occasion of the final farewell of Dr. Chapman and Mr. Alexander, the well-known evangelists, to Melbourne, Australia, Commissioner Hay arranged for the Staff Bandmen to procession through the street en route to the New Zealand boat, and also play at the vessel's side. The Hawthorn and Northcote Bands were also represented. The Bandmasters and Bandmen combined with the Staff Bandmen.

Dr. Chapman spoke briefly from the gangway, and prayed for all present, and for the Salvation Army and including The Staff Band. His desires and purposes for our selves and for a fallen world which we are to witness in the future, were words with such effect that we entered into sympathy and fellowship with him in his desires and purposes. What is a sinner but one? Creator? What is sin but disobedience? (Continued on Page 16)

HERMONY'S LAWS.

What is sanctification, but living in absolute harmony with the will of God? says a writer in the "Bandman, Local Officer, and Songster." His desires and purposes for our selves and for a fallen world which we are to witness in the future, were words with such effect that we entered into sympathy and fellowship with him in his desires and purposes. What is a sinner but one? Creator? What is sin but disobedience? (Continued on Page 16)

IMPRESSIONS OF THE WEST
(By Colonel Bullard.)

My Canadian tour is now completed. I have had the delightful privilege of journeying right to the heart of the Dominion from coast to coast, and having given some impressions

At the onset I would say that the general impression formed has been most favourable, and this, notwithstanding the fact that in view of the expressions I had constantly of Ontario and the Maritime Provinces, my feelings with regard to the West may, perhaps now, be of some interest.

Old Log Cabin School at Coombs Colony.

heard in other parts. "Wait till you go to the West," I went with particularly high expectations. As to the relation of the West to

Coombs Colony

Three years ago and now—Impressions of a Visit by Adjutant Thompson.

Adjutant G. P. Thompson, of the Immigration Department, Vancouver, B. C., having recently spent a week-end at Coombs Colony, sends us the following interesting impressions:

"Leaving Vancouver on the Friday morning, after a delightful trip of three hours to the island, I arrived at Nanaimo at noon, and thirty-two miles over the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway (which is now owned by the C. P. R.), took me into Coombs.

"This was my first visit since my appointment to British Columbia. Needless to say, I was delighted with the trip, and fully enjoyed the report of Ensign Crogo, the Manager of the Colony, on progress made since the start three years ago.

"At that time the railroad was not completed, and the Ensign and his family spent two days and two nights in a box car getting from Nanaimo to Coombs; but to-day the C. P. R. have their trains running thirty miles further on, to Alberni, and they have built a small but commodious station at Coombs.

The Colony consists of fifteen acres of twenty acres each, and we have three miles of clearing, five acres deep. This, with a splendid highway, which the Government has built, and the railway combined, makes the clearing space three miles long and ten acres deep. It is the largest clearing between Nanaimo and Alberni. Each Colony has twenty acres, five cleared, and five in bush land, a nice dwelling-house and outhouse.

"Ensign Crogo has planted an acre of strawberries on his farm this year; they will find a ready market."

The Government have built a school. There are four day schools, and, according to reports, Bill Wilson, the teacher, who holds also a diploma for teaching music, is quite capable at her task.

"I send a photograph of the old log cabin school which the Ensign opened, with prayer, two and a half years ago, and one of the new school, which will give readers some idea of the advances that have been made in this respect.

one little girl—Ed.; and from what I saw and heard, the children of the Colony are very happy and much attached to each other.

"At night (Sunday) in the new school, we had a congregation of forty-five souls, including some children, in which a number testified to the fact of conversion, and away above the tops of huge trees, hundreds of feet high. There I met Sergeant-Major and Mrs. Dixon, who are doing a good work for God and The Army at Port Alberni. They have a hall free of charge, which has been secured and lighted by help the generous friends. One man gave a cheque all appeared to appreciate the gathering.

New School at Coombs Colony, Built by the Government.

"On Monday I went to Alberni (which is at the west terminus of the railroad). The scenery on the way is very interesting. For miles the train skirts Cameron Lake, steaming along the side of the mountain, hundreds of feet above the water level and looking down upon the lake you find yourself also for a supply of Song Books and the Sergeant-Major informs me that all that is wanted now is an Officer.

"We had a splendid meeting. I had the privilege of meeting some comrades whom I knew years ago in Glace Bay, Cape Breton, Edinburgh, Scotland. The Sergeant-Major is able to tell thrilling stories of drunkards having been saved, stories which I cannot now relate.

Impressions of The West

(Continued from Page 5.)

precipices, "looming the loom" about by hour, and ascending amid the most beautiful scenery that the imagination can conceive—words fail to describe the inspiring impressiveness of it all.

I was privileged to visit all our Corps in the West, with the exception of the Yukon, the Indian Work, and two Corps in the North-West.

"War Cry" Herald of the Eastern and Western Divisions. (See "Three Energetic Soldiers.")

I have been delighted with what I have seen. The Corps as a whole, are in good spiritual condition. The rule is fine, well located, regular congregations, and an earnest, aggressive spirit that would do credit to Corps in any part of the world.

Large crowds attended my meetings, and the interest and sympathy manifested has certainly not been exceeded in any part of the Dominion. The week-end meetings were especially good. We generally had packed halls in the afternoon and many people were unable to gain admission at night, and there were a gratifying number of seekers.

The reports of my meetings in the East that had appeared in "The War Cry" had created a general feeling of anticipation, and this was undoubtedly helpful to our campaign in the West.

I was a little afraid that as we approached our Self-Denial Effort this might in some measure affect the success of my meetings. This, however, made no material difference in the crowds attending, but rather contributed to the sympathy manifested. Indeed, my visit at this time was especially appropriate, and I trust assisted to some extent in securing satisfactory results in the Self-Denial Effort.

The Officers, as a whole, spared no pains in making arrangements for the meetings, and the Soldiers took the visit up heartily. They were all, I believe, rewarded by special blessing for their efforts.

I was delighted with my association with the Officers and the Divisional Commanders, Brigadier General Green, and Major McLean, and their Staff, and am very grateful for all the help given, which added no more to the pleasure as well as the profit of my visit.

It was also a pleasure to visit the Grace Hospital, the Killmann Home, and other institutions in the West. I felt proud of the work that is being done in these institutions.

After seven months' stay in Canada, it is with some feeling of regret that my tour is now brought to an end, but it is also with the sincere hope that the present chapter closes only "to be continued."

[We hope to publish a letter from the Colonel in our next issue.—Ed.]

Captain Sydney Cox, of Winnipeg Divisional Headquarters, has been awarded a diploma by the Officers' Advanced Training Department, for his studies in Homiletics, which he

THE FIELD SECRETARY.

At the Toronto Temple—Special Prayer Rewarded at the Penitential Form.

It is about two years since Colonel Tilden conducted Sunday's campaign at the Toronto Temple, but during that long interval, neither the Soldiers nor friends have forgotten the influence, instruction, and blessing which previous meetings led by the Colonel brought to them. And that was the reason why good crowds attended the meetings on Sunday last, May 18, in spite of the fact that it was Garrison Parade Day in the city.

"War Cry" Herald of the Eastern and Western Divisions. (See "Three Energetic Soldiers.")

In the morning, the Colonel took for the central thought of his illuminating address, the fact of Jesus, Jesus as our Life and Hope of Heaven: Jesus as a living reality, as the great Panacea for the world's sins and sorrows. Finally, as the complete Saviour, with a complete salvation, which one woman sought before the close of the meeting.

Staff-Captain Arnold and Captain Bonyne assisted the Colonel.

The address, which the Field Secretary gave in the afternoon was deserving of a better crowd than was present, so definite and so pointed was it. However, the application was well filled, and ignoring the Parade the people stayed to the end of the meeting. Staff-Captain Arnold also spoke and sang, and when the appeal was made, two persons knelt at the Penitential-form. One was an old man, who in the morning had raised his hand for prayer.

There was a splendid crowd at night. Both Colonel and Mrs. Gaskin pleaded eloquently for immediate surrenders, and two were made in the prayer meeting, conducted by Staff-Captain Arnold. A man for whom prayer was offered in the afternoon, volunteered at night. The Band and Songsters gave valuable assistance.

Three Energetic Soldiers.

On the left is Sister Mrs. Maplebeck, of St. John L. N. B., who sold 100 Christmas "War Cries" and 80 of the special Easter Issues.

In the centre is Brother Magnus Berg, of Prince Rupert, B. C., who was converted while Adjutant and Mrs. Johnson had charge of the Corps. This comrade (twice Captain (L. S. Roe) sells as many as forty "War Cries" in a week, and has not missed an open-air meeting since I took charge. He is a carpenter by trade, and a good supporter of our work.

On the right is Sister Smith, also of St. John L. N. B., who sold over 500 "War Cries."

Lindsay.

Lindsay is going about under the direction of Captain and Mrs. Cranwell, writes Corps Cadet Brown. We have welcomed Brother and Sister Bannister and family to our Corps, also Brother and Sister Stubblings and family from Toronto. One soul came to the Mercy Seat on Sunday, May 11th.

STAFF BAND ACTIVITIES.

Army and Navy Veterans Escorted to Cathedral—Visits to Chester and Parliament St. Corps.

Chester Corps is situated in the extreme southwestern section of Toronto, and just why the Staff Band has not visited that district before last Thursday night, May 18th, is a mystery. The reason surely could not have been because of the size of the Corps, for the Staff Band's motto has ever been: "Visit the small Corps." And after the welcome the Band got on Thursday night, nobody need fear a cold reception there.

The festival, which was given in the Methodist Church, was presided over by Alderman Youmans, one of the church members, whose conduct of the gathering was most pleasing and appropriate. He more than once expressed his gratitude to brass bands, and the Staff Band's presence was to him a special pleasure. He believed that nowhere in Canada was there an organization to compare with it.

The playing of the Band under Adjutant Hanagan was up to the usual standard, and in its first public rendering of "Great Masters, No. 6," the Band showed admirable taste and skill, which the Bandmaster controlled with skillful dexterity. "English Melodies" was heartily applauded. The opening bars (Rule Britannia) were irresistible, and stirred the hearts of the Britons, so that they were forced to cheer.

Captain and Mrs. Parsons are doing well at this Corps.

On Sunday evening, the Staff Band headed the parade of the Army and Navy Veterans in Toronto to St. James' Cathedral. Over one hundred old soldiers and sailors were on the march, which attracted crowds of people all along the route to the church.

The same honour fell to the Staff Band last year, and the pleasure was equal on both sides.

Instead of dispersing on arrival, the Band went on to Parliament Street Corps, to exhibit the meeting. This is the third time that the Band has visited this Corps since the opening of the new Citadel—and it was present on that occasion.

The Band was well filled when the meeting was opened by Knigh Sitit, and his true object—the salvation of sinners kept well in the front. Captain E. Pongate spoke, and Captains Bonyne and Patterson soloed. Captain Dind read a portion of Scripture on which Adjutant Hanagan, in a striking address, based a powerful appeal. In the prayer meeting, led by Knigh Sitit, a young man was brought to the Mercy Seat by the Bandmaster.

Captain and Mrs. McEldred have been re-accepted as Officers, and will shortly take an appointment.

Three souls were saved in Sunday night meeting.

Alice Goodwin, Staff-Captain.

Ensign and Mrs. Crego, of Coombs Colony, Vancouver Island

Ensign and Mrs. Crego, of Coombs Colony, Vancouver Island

(18th). The target was smashed seven hundred and fifty dollars was sent in, this being seventy-five dollars over the target. Everybody is happy and grateful.

Three souls were saved in Sunday night meeting.

Dying Soldier's Testimony

Convicted Husband and Wife and Brought to Repentance—Mrs. Colonel Maidment at Ligar Street.

The visit of Mrs. Colonel Maidment, in Ligar Street Corps, Toronto, was a notable event for the Salvationists of the west end of the city (says Sergeant-Major Bell). The day was commenced with twenty-one comrades at knee-drill. This fact angered well for the rest of the day, in which the Holiness meeting stood out as a time of spiritual refreshment. Many of these persons must have been helped into light and liberty by Mrs. Maidment's address.

A good crowd was present in the afternoon, when Mrs. Maidment gave a most interesting and enlightening account of Salvation Army warfare as she had seen it in other lands. Her descriptions of the days in Finland, and the sacrifices that were made necessary in planting the Army's Flag there, touched every heart, while her sketch of the beginnings and progress of operations in South America made one and all wish that the meeting could go on for hours.

The night meeting was fraught with stirring appeals to the unconverted and backslidden—appeals in music, song, and address. And, without doubt, that of Mrs. Maidment had a searching effect upon the hearts of those to whom it was directed, for the prayer meeting resulted in four surrenders. Two of these were husband and wife who had backslidden after many years' service for God. They were convicted by the last testimony of the late Brother Verrall—given from the bedroom window, a short time before his death.

The Band gave appreciated service all day, and it is worth recording that within a few minutes of the whistling, nineteen Bandmen were helping to fight on the prayer meeting.

Adjutant and Mrs. Johnston are gathering a splendid hold upon the Corps.

OTTAWA'S 52nd.

Self-Denial Victory in the Capital City.

(By Wire).

Ottawa, May 19.—The No. 1 Corps had a most successful finish to its Self-Denial Effort on Sunday.

What, then, is such an immigrant to do? Fall back upon the Britisher's implicit right to do a good deed. Give his love a "bit of his own." If he wants to irritate the Canadian, yes; let him fire away in this absolutely stupid fashion. He may think it will bring him temporary relief. It will really help him forward one job. His chances of happily succeeding in this new country will, in fact, now be so much the poorer, and sooner or later, he is sure to feel pretty mean that he acted like a great baby.

He had far better took two or three bad faces in the face, and say, "I am here; what has happened to me?" The circumstances of the day are not for himself the call, the came running from a neighbour, two or three doors away.

Her eyes were bright, her lips so smiling that her mother smiled, too.

"Do you want me, mother?"

"No, dear, not if you're anything important. Where were you, daughter?"

"At the Browns." And O mother, Walter was cross, but I happened him up so that he got all over it, and said the baby cried, and I had to happy her up; then some one stepped on the kitten's tail, and I was called to happy her up when you called me."

"Why, what a happying time you must have had! It must make you happy yourself to happy up little boys and ladies and kittens, for you look as happy as possible."

Try to make others happy, the happier we shall be ourselves. Then put away frowns and pouting lips. Try to "happy up" those who are troubled, cross, or sick, and your face will shine with smiles.

Stratheona Sentence Quashed.

On the ground that our six comrades of Edmonton H. (Stratheona) who were recently committed to jail, could not, under the by-law, be legally summoned for street preaching and sentenced for obstruction.

Mr. Justice Harvey has quashed the sentence. There, for the present, the matter ends.

TO MASTERS AND MEN

DISINTERESTED ADVICE (YOU MAY TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT) TO IMMIGRANTS, ESPECIALLY BRITISHERS, AND THEIR CANADIAN EMPLOYERS.

CANADA'S thirst for population is insatiable; it must, we suppose, remain so for years to come. From the over-crowded cities of the Old Lands, with their scarcity of work and consequent poverty, thousands of men and women are every week entering the Dominion, the "golden land" of abounding life and unlimited opportunity. Many are coming over in the care of the Salvation Army. "The War Cry" bids them all the warmest of Canadian welcome to the land of their beginning again.

And as quickly as they come, like melting snow before the sun, they disappear—swallowed up by the great demand. Farmers and other employers are anxiously waiting at the great railroad terminals for men whom they cannot get in numbers anything like sufficient for their present needs.

Right Kind Wanted.

For the right kind of immigrant there is always plenty of work in Canada, as well as glowing prospects; but he must be of the right kind.

The man who will not work in the Old Country will not work here. If he is not wanted there, neither is he wanted here. Changes of country will not change the man. To many the mere sight of men working with a will has a tonic effect, but not to the work-shy. Nothing but a character of the highest order will help him. So that if by any chance he has entered the Dominion the kindest counsel we can offer him is that he should make up his mind to get on or to get out. If he is willing to try he will find the Salvation Army, with its vast network of agencies, and in all Canada, ready to help him. But we to him who can and will not work.

Don't Find it All Fun.

A chance everywhere! And yet there are well-intentioned men and women who, through they ought to be doing splendidly, are not finding it all fun to be in Canada.

Perhaps these excellent people did not take notice what immigration to a new country would involve. It is no easy matter for a man who has spent twenty, thirty, or forty years of his life in one kind of work and one set of circumstances, to make a new beginning; and then many people dwell in anticipation upon the similarities of life and work in the Old Country and the New, rather than upon the differences—until they arrive, with the inevitable result that they soon get a bit of "the blues."

What, then, is such an immigrant to do? Fall back upon the Britisher's implicit right to do a good deed. Give his love a "bit of his own." If he wants to irritate the Canadian, yes; let him fire away in this absolutely stupid fashion. He may think it will bring him temporary relief. It will really help him forward one job. His chances of happily succeeding in this new country will, in fact, now be so much the poorer, and sooner or later, he is sure to feel pretty mean that he acted like a great baby.

He had far better took two or three bad faces in the face, and say, "I am here; what has happened to me?" The circumstances of the day are not for himself the

call, the came running from a neighbour, two or three doors away.

Her eyes were bright, her lips so smiling that her mother smiled, too.

"Do you want me, mother?"

"No, dear, not if you're anything important. Where were you, daughter?"

"At the Browns." And O mother, Walter was cross, but I happened him up so that he got all over it, and said the baby cried, and I had to happy her up; then some one stepped on the kitten's tail, and I was called to happy her up when you called me."

"Why, what a happying time you must have had! It must make you happy yourself to happy up little boys and ladies and kittens, for you look as happy as possible."

Try to make others happy, the happier we shall be ourselves. Then put away frowns and pouting lips. Try to "happy up" those who are troubled, cross, or sick, and your face will shine with smiles.

Stratheona Sentence Quashed.

On the ground that our six comrades of Edmonton H. (Stratheona) who were recently committed to jail, could not, under the by-law, be legally summoned for street preaching and sentenced for obstruction.

Mr. Justice Harvey has quashed the sentence. There, for the present, the matter ends.

essential meaning of that golden word, "adaptation"—the act of adapting oneself or making oneself suitable. He cannot be both a British workman and a Canadian workman. It is in his interests, as well as those of his employer, that he should become a good Canadian.

Whether compositor, carpenter, shoemaker, chef, farm-labourer, or anything else, he will find that he has got, first, to unlearn a good deal of what he has hitherto proudly regarded as part of his British superiority. Then he must learn to call some things by different names and to use different tools, or the old tools in a different way.

He will find everywhere labour-saving appliances, such as he has never dreamed of before. Let him use them straightaway. Why begin again to complain of the machine output is not his business?

He may even have to learn that speed is here often preferred to quality. "Get busy, there!"

At any rate, adaptation is the way he has come here to do the job as his new employer wants it done, and let that be "an end in itself." Even in the home there are notable differences. Canada's rule is three meals a day—a meal rule, too. No supper! The British immigrant may miss his beloved "egg and bacon" for breakfast and find instead the more respectable porridge. The cook will find that she has to prepare Canadian dishes, not matter how excellent an English cook she may be. She may be surprised to see the mistress turning into the kitchen at all times of the day, and of horror of horrors, she may find that she has in part to be "general" as well as cook. That is the "last straw."

In her haste she decides that she has made a great mistake—how soon can she get back to the Old Country? But grumbling is a pretty mean paymaster, and while she is, so to speak, working her passage she reflects that, after all, she is paid to please her Canadian mistress and not to satisfy her own hide-bound British fancies.

She hits, in short, upon the fine old idea of adaptation. And she may not go back after all. Canada's a fine country, isn't it?

Thousands have discovered that, who began in just the same unimproving manner as she. Only make up one's mind to please and he will begin to learn, and the battle is won.

Think yourself a misfit? A square peg in a round hole? Well, there are two ways of removing the sharp corners. The best way is for you to take the job in hand yourself.

And, for the rest, whatever you do, our friend the immigrant, don't make up your mind to go back too quickly. Wait a bit!

Don't try to teach the Canadian what he doesn't know about his own country. You'll only make a mess of it.

Don't, in the pointed words of the Editor of "The Canadian and British News of Canada," "let the assumption that being an Englishman, you are the salt of the earth—'which, perhaps, explains why in Canada'—be often its bane."

Altho' continues the same writer, "called him 'God's Englishman,' but Milton never saw him try to swing a Canadian axe or drive a breaking very man yourself and wished to hide your head with shame, because of his know-all, bombastic, ranting, progress in the new surroundings?"

Why not leave the heathen alone?

Replying to critics of missionary work who say of the heathen: "Why not leave them alone? They're happy enough in their native state." Dr. Herissey says:

"Let the man who labours under the delusion that 'the native is all right as he is,' visit with the writer in the middle of a large native place. Let him go and sit down on a dirty mat, by the smoke fire, in an unventilated heathen hut. Let the coarser clothes and other creatures crawl over him; let him see and feel the greasy skin and bladders worn by day and night. Let him sleep a night in such a place and then report. Let him hear the swearing that puts English bad language in the shade. Let him learn the filthy customs. Let him wallow in all the morals of polygamy. Let him see the utter laziness and selfishness of the men, the ignorance and attend a 'beer drink' and a native wedding, and see heathenism in all its naked ugliness and grossness."

"And that let him say honestly and truly if he still holds the same delusion that 'the heathen are all right as they are!'"

THE PRAYING LEAGUE.

(Continued from Page 2.)

call, the came running from a neighbour, two or three doors away.

Her eyes were bright, her lips so smiling that her mother smiled, too.

"Do you want me, mother?"

"No, dear, not if you're anything important. Where were you, daughter?"

"At the Browns." And O mother, Walter was cross, but I happened him up so that he got all over it, and said the baby cried, and I had to happy her up; then some one stepped on the kitten's tail, and I was called to happy her up when you called me."

"Why, what a happying time you must have had! It must make you happy yourself to happy up little boys and ladies and kittens, for you look as happy as possible."

Try to make others happy, the happier we shall be ourselves. Then put away frowns and pouting lips. Try to "happy up" those who are troubled, cross, or sick, and your face will shine with smiles.

Stratheona Sentence Quashed.

On the ground that our six comrades of Edmonton H. (Stratheona) who were recently committed to jail, could not, under the by-law, be legally summoned for street preaching and sentenced for obstruction.

Mr. Justice Harvey has quashed the sentence. There, for the present, the matter ends.

Not a Credit to Either.

The condition of mind which leads an employer to start his advertisement with the notice: "No English need apply," is, we are told, the same as that which leads a man to take a newspaper, a reflection on both those to whom it is applied and those who apply it.

To the newcomers Canada undoubtedly owes much of her prosperity. Treat them, therefore, with kindly consideration, and help them as tactfully and generously as possible to bridge over the difficult transition period. In the end that will be good for you both, and very good for Canada.

Don't think, much less suggest, that you have conferred a favour upon Canada by coming to the country. They could just manage to get along without your assistance.

Don't forget that everyone doesn't take you at exactly your own valuation.

Don't, if you are a man, forget to be manly. The ladies, we submit, are not arguently in need of corresponding advice.

Don't grumble, and again don't grumble. Two can play at that game. If you must kick, kick your own. "Warranted all British" is a fine trade-mark for a good knock, but not for a brand new immigrant. Some people would grumble even in Heaven, if they got there.

Don't forget that you are a citizen of the new country as soon as you enter, or that it is as "great" a country as you could wish for.

Duties become a little more. There are other things in life beside money and real estate.

Don't forget to contribute generously to good causes.

And, above all else—Don't make the capital blunder of leaving God out of your life and work, your plans and prospects.

A Call to the Work

For Canada's Salvation.
An attractive and interesting Booklet, giving helpful information

THE SALVATION ARMY OFFICER IN TRAINING AND THE SALVATION ARMY OFFICER IN ACTIVE SERVICE

will be made to anyone interested, who will make application to The Candidates' Secretary,
at Albert Street,
Toronto, Ont.

The next Session of Training commences early in September, and all intending Candidates should make application now.

THE WAR CRY.

PRINTED FOR THE Salvation Army
in Canada, Newfoundland, Borneo and Alaska, by The Salvation Army Printing House, 18 Albert Street, Toronto.

MISSIONARY LOVE

After six months of unceasing
travel and arduous campaigning,
Colonel Bullard has now left Canada for the Old Country and home, in readiness for a long missionary journey to the East.

His visit to the Dominion will be gratefully remembered by many people in all parts of the country.
He came in the interests of a great and growing and important branch of Salvation Army warfare, and we believe his campaign has done much to awaken sympathy with that work.

Canada is, if we have observed correctly, a missionary-loving nation. We have seen splendid evidences of the responsibility she feels for the salvation of the heathen world. But it is not only the people whose happy lot is cast upon the little island "set in the silver sea" that run the risk of becoming absorbed in their own concerns: it is, as easily possible for those of a young and rapidly-developing country like Canada, notwithstanding her limitable stretches of open country, and her mighty outlook towards prosperity, to become grossly self-centred in their habits of thought.

No man can be better than his aims and ideals, and few things can bring more blessing to a nation than keen interest in the heathen and practical sympathy with the brave spirits who are devotedly toiling and suffering and winning on the Missionary Field. Love, sympathy, generosity, self-sacrifice—these are wonder-working elements in a nation's character-building.

Colonel Bullard has, by means of his earnest and powerful appeals, quickened our love for India, Japan, Korea, and China, and it will be our own hurt if we permit that love to die for want of cultivation.

IN MEMORY OF THE LITTLE GIRL THAT DIED

The grand-parents of a little Toronto child, who was recently taken home to God, are devoting the thirty dollars which had been banked in her name to The Army's Fresh Air Fund, so that it may go towards reviving other little children happy.

Perhaps there are other sorrowing grand-parents or parents who would be glad of the opportunity of doing likewise. It is certainly a happy way of disposing of the little one's treasure.

MAJOR SOPER

Speaks of the Work that Has for Many Years Called Forth Her Arduous Love and Claimed Her Devoted Service—Her Conversion and Call to The Army—First Impressions of Canada.

MY direct line in the Women's Social Work," said Major Lilian Soper the other day—the work which in Plymouth, England, as here in Canada, includes the regular visitation of the Police Court. In this branch of Salvation Army warfare, the Major served for the last seventeen or eighteen years, and it was only natural that she should visit the Toronto Police Court within a few hours of her arrival in the city.

In the Police Court.

The Major began her Army career when in 1905 she was appointed to start Police Court and Prison Gate Work in Plymouth, in which town she was born, by her father, Dr. Soper, of the Salvation Army, who had then made his home.

Recalling with evident pleasure those early days, the Major said that the late Colonel Barker had introduced her in the new work. Together they called at the Police Court, where from the Chief Constable "The Army's" representatives received the warmest welcome—a welcome that has never since been lessened or withdrawn. By him it was arranged that the Major should interview women in the cells, and later attend the court in their interest. Since those early days a similar door of opportunity has opened before her in the sister town of Devonport, where a similar work is carried on with every help from the Officials.

Together also they held a meeting in the local jail, and to the Major belongs the honour of having been the first lady to occupy the prison pulpit there, and in so doing to be the first lady to occupy a pulpit of the established Church. Permits had been obtained in the usual way, for "Colonel Barker and Captain Soper," but it was not till the report of the meeting was sent in that the Home Office became aware of this fact that the Captain was a lady!

There had, of course, been no intention of misleading the authorities, but the liberties extended to The Army and other organizations for such beneficent work in England were then very limited—in striking contrast to the open door of to-day in Canada—and the Major was not permitted again to occupy that pulpit!

Occupies Prison Pulpit.

But that first and last meeting will ever live in her memory.

Speaking of the prisoners present, the Major says: "There were about fifty women and as many men. All who wished us to speak to them after the service were told to leave their lodges on their seats as the necessary indication. All the women except two gave this sign, and most of the men; so that the Colonel and I had a busy time with them. We helped quite a number, with several of whom we kept in touch for some time.

"One of the women who promised me to call on her discharge she would enter The Army Home, when I met her at the gate went back on her word, and returned to her evil life.

In a letter written some years later, she told the Major that that interview in the prison had, after all, brought about a wonderful change in her heart, and she found she could no longer take pleasure in the ways of sin, nor find conceal company amongst the old associates. Ashamed to go to The Army, she entered another Home, where she stayed two years, but did not get converted. All the time she was there something was telling her that God's place for her was The Army, and that it was there alone she would find the forgiveness of her sins, for which she longed. She therefore left the situation in which she had been placed, and walked to another town where she entered The Army Home and gave her heart to God. At the time of writing this letter to the Major, this young woman was happily married and a good Salvationist.

Major Soper.

Who is spending some months in Canada on a special mission affecting Immigration Work.

For some time the Major had charge of the second Women's Industrial Home in Plymouth, and to-day is fully responsible for the entire Women's Social Operations in the city. The two Homes accommodate eighty-five women, including the Staff.

The Major is also a member of the Board of Guardians, and represents The Army on several committees in the city. She spoke gratefully of her fellow-officers, and although her present mission may occupy her till the end of August, she entertains no fears for the work at home or her absence.

Asked whether she had not some times been discouraged in the work for friendless girls, the Major replied "No, not to any great extent." (Continued on Page 12.)

Not a Real Earthquake, But an Artificial One—Moving a Mountain Near Prince Rupert, B. C., by Means of Blasting.

Territorial Newslets

On Thursday evening (May 2) the Commissioner was expected to meet all the Field Officers of the Toronto and Training College Divisions over a cup of tea at Lippincott Street Citadel. A brief Council was to follow.

On Tuesday, May 20, Colonel Gaskin, Field Secretary, lectured at the Training College on "Discipline of the War," and on Wednesday, Brigadier Walker addressed the Cadets on "The War Cry."

Brigadier Potter, we learn, is expected to sail from England for Canada on Saturday, May 24th. Major Soper, who is leaving Toronto at once, will visit London and several other Ontario centres before reaching Quebec on June 6th. The Major is to accompany a party of touricians through Winnipeg, and will later proceed to Vancouver.

Major Simco and Misses Rave left Toronto for Vancouver (where they have been appointed) on Thursday night, May 15. Their formal reception is announced to take place on May 24th.

Major Mary Matheson, of the International Training College Staff, is sailing from England for Toronto on the 24th inst., bringing with her on the "Victoria," a party of domestics.

We regret to learn that Mrs. Major McLean's mother is seriously ill, and owing to the inability of Mrs. McLean to visit her mother, on account of the illness of her boy, the Major has gone in her place. Staff-Captain Florence Esdaile, who is still on furlough on account of ill-health, speaks hopefully concerning her physical condition in a letter which has been received at Headquarters, Toronto.

Staff-Captain Burrows, of Montreal, has been at Headquarters for a day or two on financial business. Adjutant Col. Mrs. McLean has been appointed to Peterborough, Ont. Their little boy has recently undergone an operation on one of his feet, but is now much improved.

Adjutant Lytle, who has been spending a few days in England with his sister, returned to Canada on May 20th. Government permission to form a library for use of the men.

The health of Adjutant Coy continues to be unsatisfactory, and it is still resting in his bed. (Continued on Page 16.)

Nottingham

Memorial IN HONOUR OF WM. BOOTH

Table Unveiled by President of Wesleyan Conference.

An interesting ceremony took place at Wesley Chapel, Nottingham, England (the scene of our late General's conversion), a picture of which we recently published, when a bronze tablet to his memory was unveiled by the Rev. Luke Wiseman, President of the Methodist Conference, in the presence of over a thousand people.

Warm tributes were paid by the various speakers to The Army's Founder and to the late Mrs. Booth. The Rev. Thomas Scooby said that he began to preach the Gospel in the year of the interest our late General took in his fifty-seven years ago. "In the year of my retirement," he continued, "I and General William Booth of my interest and in his own strong and bold hand he wrote me a note finishing with the words, 'Fight to the finish, a motto he faithfully carried out himself.'"

Lieut.-Colonel Hillary (representing General Hamwell Booth) expressed the gratitude of The Army for the kindly thought which had prompted the erection of the tablet, and W. H. Carey, Esq., J.P., expressed the great pleasure it gave him to accept on behalf of the trustees, in perpetuity, the tablet erected by the minister and friends.

Mr. Carey's father was our late General's close friend, and Mr. Carey took the chair at luncheon, and the late General said, "I am glad you are in the choir, because I owe much to your father's influence upon me years ago as my Class-Leader."

The Rev. Mr. Luke Wiseman, before unveiling the tablet, spoke glowingly of the work of General Booth, concluding by saying, "This tablet must ever be looked upon as a 'Remembrance' for the most illustrious of the young men of our land, as no one can tell—as in the case of William Booth—what they may become."

NINE NEW BRIGADIERS.

Promotions in the United States. Congratulations to the under-mentioned comrades of the American Field, several of whom are also well known in Canada:

Brigadier Anthony Merrillweather, General Secretary, Midwest Province, Department of the West.

Brigadier George Davis, Chief Divisional Officer, Chicago.

Brigadier Samuel Withers, Divisional Officer, Pittsburgh and West Virginia Division.

Brigadier Edwy White, Divisional Officer, Western New York Division.

Brigadier William Escott, Divisional Officer, South-Eastern Division.

Brigadier Andrew Crawford, Divisional Officer, South Atlantic Division.

Brigadier Charles Wiseman, Central Province, Seattle.

Brigadier George Casler, Divisional Officer, Metropolitan and New Jersey Division.

Brigadier William Andrews, at present on furlough.

NEXT WEEK.

In our issue we hope to publish the report of an interesting interview with the Commissioner on the subject of the value of initiative in the work of the Army, as well as a specially written article entitled "You Only Live Once."

Day of Salvation THE COMMISSIONER

LEADS A SUNDAY'S CAMPAIGN AT LIPPINCOTT STREET, TORONTO—DELIGHT IN OPEN-AIR FIGHTING—THE NEXT REVIVAL—HEADQUARTERS' STAFF AND CADETS ASSIST—PENITENT-FORM VICTORIES.

THE Commissioner, with the majority of Officers composing Headquarters Staff, was at Lippincott Street, Toronto, on Sunday, and the day was one of light, joy, and salvation.

Toronto had newly put on her beautiful summer garb—the tender green of trees and lawns refreshed the eyes; the air was invigorating; the shepherd of the sky now and again drove a fleecy hatter across his white field of hue, and the overall meetings, always a delight, were, in such conditions, more delightful than ever. The Commissioner attended them all, and the overall meetings, always a delight, were, in such conditions, more delightful than ever. The Commissioner attended them all, and the overall meetings, always a delight, were, in such conditions, more delightful than ever.

"It has been a happy, heavenly day," said the Commissioner, when, at ten o'clock at night, the large

The old Citadel presented quite a changed appearance, new open chairs having just taken the place of the old forms.

In the morning meeting, the Commissioner informed the large congregation that this was his first Sunday at a Toronto Corps for a long time. He asked Brigadier Cameron to read a Bible passage—John's inspiring words regarding fellowship and Full Salvation, and Cadet Holmgren and the Editor were called upon for testimonies to holy living.

Proceeding to his address, the Commissioner expressed his opinion that the next revival of religion that will refresh the work of God will be a revival of holiness. He begged those who were striving to live the life of purity not to be discouraged because their misdeeds were misunderstood by the world. In this they were like number of comrades still present were thanking God for the evening's trophies—ten seekers at the Mercy Seat, in addition to two in the morning! "I have enjoyed it most for the beautiful spirit that has been manifested," the Commissioner proceeded. He also spoke in warm praise of the least singing that had greatly pleased him during the day, and commended Major Turpin, the Treasurer of the Corps, for having had a supply of Song Books ready for the use of visitors.

Part of the Wingham, Ont., Corps. (Photo taken during Captain Herbert Pugnare's command.) Captain Milton is now the Corps Officer.

Of the Commissioner's part in the fight, it must be said that he was, speaking from the human standpoint, the very soul and centre of things, the life and fire of the evening meeting, being especially noteworthy. But that is only another way of saying God was with him.

The Divisional Commander (Lieut.-Colonel Chandler) assisted the Commissioner all day. Mr. Chandler, the Chief Clerk (Staff-Captain Bloss), and Adjutant and Mrs. Squarabriggs (the Commanding Officers), also lent ready help. Cadet Gledhill, under Brigadier Cameron and Major Phillips fought with excellent spirit.

Sergeant-Major Teague, of Northampton, was most interested in sharing also in the work of the campaign.

In the Senior Hall, Major Phillips and Major Crofton having each given out a stirring war song, and Major Moore and Mrs. Major Miller having led in prayer, Cadet Spenser and Cadet Cameron testified to the personal possession of salvation. The Cadets, indeed, had their opportunity, and they made the most of it. "The Band, led by Cadet Gledhill, played a very spirited piece and their Male Quartette sang very appropriately a catchy song of happiness. And that is just what I am going to speak about," said the Commissioner. (Continued on Page 11.)

From the Watch Tower

Jamaica, "lovely tropic isle," is evidently keenly interested in Canada. "The Jamaica Times" has printed the short character sketch of Mrs. Colonel Maidment which appeared in the Easter number of "The War Cry," and also taken considerable extracts from the Chief Secretary's descriptive article on Jamaica, published in the same number.

"The Times" speaks in flattering terms, which modesty forbids our repeating, of both the Colonel's article and the Easter "War Cry" generally.

How many million people watched the wonderful funeral procession of The Army's beloved Founder as it passed through the City of London last August, when the busy metropolis stood still for several hours to pay its homage to the dead Chief's memory? And if it is difficult to estimate those numbers, what shall be said of the many millions more who witnessed, in the daily and weekly Press, and in "The War Cry" all over the world, the impressive procession, in picture?

"One of the newspapers alone, 'The Daily Mirror,' according to its circulation returns, sold over a million copies of the issue reporting the funeral. 'The Mirror's' explanation of its upward leap that day was 'Pictures of General Booth's funeral.' The paper was certainly most remarkable—on 820,000 of the day before to 1,041,500—and then down to 831,600 on the day following. 'This fact,' says a writer in 'The Sphere,' 'should be mentioned in the great Leader's biography; it is most significant.'

"The Sphere," "should be mentioned in the great Leader's biography; it is most significant."

So another International Congress may be looked forward to next summer—1914. If, as is already assumed, this is to be held in London (Eng.) what huge building will be used for the main gatherings? Previous to the 1904 Congress, old Exeter Hall was generally large enough for such assemblies, with the Crystal Palace for the great Field Day; but a big temporary building was then erected in the Strand. That site is presumably now available, but some other equally good will no doubt be found.

SELF-DENIAL PROGRESS.

In the Quebec and East Ontario Division.

So far as the Quebec and East Ontario Division is concerned, Self-Denial is booming, and, by the present indications, the target is well assured.

Brigadier Rawling and the Chancellor (Staff-Captain Walton) have had a run round to a good number of the Corps, and the signs are good, not only as far as money goes, but the spirit of the Effort is also telling on our people. Everybody seems this year to be determined to Brother Liddard, of Bracebridge, Ont. Corps.

The oldest Soldier of the Corps. Two of his sisters are Officers. Mrs. Adjutant Cameron, of Riverdale, and Captain Liddard of New Westminster.

get more out of the Effort than cash, and God is pouring out His Spirit.

The Corps from which we have already heard are doing splendidly: all the Officers speak of the great blessing the Effort is to them personally, and to their Corps. Several targets are already in, and other comrades are just gathering up the fragments.

I am sure it will give "War Cry" readers pleasure to know that the French Corps, led by Adjutant Calvert and Lieutenant Brault, were the first to bring in their target. They were followed closely by Treason, Quebec, Pietou, Sherbrooke, and Gannanque.

I am glad to see the Young People are well to the front in several places. At Peterboro, which, by the way, has got its target, the Young People did well, raising over $4000.00. Montreal's Young People have also come out well, raising $2800 without their teachers' efforts. At the Citadel a noon-day prayer meeting has been held three times the week, the attendances at which have gradually come up in numbers from fifteen the first day to twenty-eight on Friday, and the meetings have been of real interest and blessing to comrades going to and from their work.

We are confidently looking forward to a time of soul-saving as a result of the Self-Denial Effort. We give God the glory—Chancellor.

Calgary II.

The meetings on May the third and fourth, says W. G. W., were conducted by Ensign and Mrs. Marshall, who were passing through to their new appointment in Vancouver. Their visit was greatly appreciated. On Sunday night, 11th, seven souls sought salvation. The night meeting also included the dedication to God of the son of Brother and Sister Bullock.

News From the Field

Ingersoll, Ont.

On a recent Sunday afternoon, says War Reporter, the meeting was conducted by Ensign and Mrs. Lightowler. The following Tuesday night, a lantern service was given by Major Morris, of London. A good crowd gathered. One conversion resulted from that meeting. One brother, who has always given a certain amount for foreign missions, understood missionary work in a different way after that meeting, and so decided that hereafter one-half of his donation should go to the Salvation Missionary Work, and forthwith gave the Captain his amount.

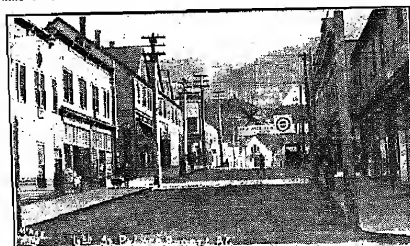

Our Self-Denial target has been smashed. Recently we had a farewell tea for Brother Taylor, our Dramaturge, who has gone to London. Last Sunday morning's meeting was led by Brother Claridge and the Bandmaster. At night, Mr. Houghton, of Flint, Michigan, read the lesson.

St. John's I, N. B.

A recent Soldiers' meeting took the form of two hours at the Cross. Sixty Soldiers were present. The Adjutant's Bible reading was followed by a solo by one of the sisters, after which the Covenant was read and explained. When the invitation was given, fifteen souls came forward voluntarily to pay their vows to the Lord.

On the following Sunday eleven souls were converted.

We have recently had a visit from Adjutant Hixson, who gave us a lantern service on the life of our late General, Income, $3000. Brigadier Morehen was present, and his explanations were both instructive and interesting. On Sunday night, May 4th, three Soldiers were enrolled, making a total of ninety enrolled in twenty months. In the prayer meeting two souls got saved. The Junior Band, in the morning, played near the home of one of their young comrades.

A Street Scene in Prince Rupert, B.C.—The Army Hall Can Be Seen at the Far End of the Street.

rades, who was sick. The lads also took part in the Holiness meeting and played the opening song.

Gannanque, Ont.

Gannanque Corps has smashed its Self-Denial target of $2500. In our Holiness meeting on May 16th says T. H., five souls knelt at the Mercy Seat, two were salvation and three for sanctification.

St. John, I. N. B.

On Sunday morning, May 4th, at knee-drill, one soul came forward and claimed forgiveness, says T. J. Our sister followed this up by attending the open-air meeting, which was led by Mrs. Staff-Captain Combs. Adjutant Parsons gave a stirring address on "Spiritual Warfare and Education."

In our salvation meeting, Mrs. Adjutant Parsons soloed. Adjutant Parsons taking the lesson. Three souls surrendered.

On May 11, our knee-drill was the largest during the present Officers' charge. A new spirit of revival has taken hold of the Corps generally, and was manifested in the testimonies of the comrades during the day. At night the Hall was filled. Corp Sergeant-Major Sister Lane soloed, Adjutant Parsons' subject was "Traying in Hell." Two souls knelt at the Cross, making four for the day, and seven for the week. The Corps is in good condition.

North Sydney.

Adjutant Byers was with us for a recent week-end, says M. P. On Saturday night the Adjutant gave an interesting and instructive lecture on "Man: or Man and Women." On Sunday night, our Hall was crowded.

On the following Wednesday, Ensign Hurl arranged a Soldiers' Tea, which was attended by a large number of Soldiers, converts, and recruits. After tea, presided over by the Ensign, and a social hour together, we went into the usual Soldiers' meeting, where the Self-Denial targets were distributed. Every target seemed to be in good spirits and eager to begin Self-Denial Work.

The following afternoon the Ensign and Junior Workers arranged a pleasant little time for the children. Over forty Junior parook of tea, and received Self-Denial cards.

Dunnville.

On May 10th and 11th we had Brigadier and Mrs. Adley with us.

IN THE LONDON DIVISION.

London No. 1, has exceeded itself in the Self-Denial appeal. The Soldiers, as a whole, never worked more willingly. Up-to-date, about $800 is in hand, with prospects of more to follow. Sister Mrs. Ward herself collected $225. God bless our Publication! Sergeant-Major! Other comrades did well. Windsor is $100 ahead of last year, and Woodstock about $250. London No. 11, $60. Ingersoll, also did excellently, about $100. St. John's, Bedford, Ridgeway, Essex, and Dresden.

Several new Bandmen have arrived to swell the ranks at London No. 1, and Chatham. Both Bands are doing well.

As we were writing these notes, a poor drunkard, in a quarrel, drove his face into the office. He said: "I don't want money, I want deliverance from the drink. I have a good wife. I am so ashamed. Oh, God help me." We prayed for the dear brother. He promised to come with his wife to the meeting to-night.

Three Officers in this Division are to be married in June.

Major Morris recently commissioned the Songster Brigade at London No. 1. This Brigade has just been organized. It will be a great acquisition to the Corps.

Serious consideration is being given to building propositions at Wallaceburg, Petrolia, St. Thomas, Owen Sound, Chatham, Stratford, and eight other places. Forest has just obtained a quarters belonging to the Salvation Army. Great credit is due to Captain Marley.

Medicine Hat.

Adjutant McIlwain spent almost three weeks here, leading a revival campaign, and, to use his own words, it is in many respects surpassing everything that he had seen in the Division.

Over two hundred people attended the last week-end's meetings. The last week's meetings were held in the Century Methodist Church, and great crowds attended. Our next visitor was Colonel Belford, with his lecture, "India, Japan, and Korea." A crowd turned out to the Methodist Church, and the lecture, with the beautiful slides, was greatly enjoyed.

Brigadier Harrgrave, the Young People's Secretary, came here, and his visit was appreciated. He brought with him twenty players in football, and then for the Canadian "War Cry."

Orilla.

Adjutant and Mrs. Walton, assisted by Adjutant Hyde, of Tennessee, V. A., led the week-end meeting. May 3rd and 4th, says R. D. Evans, and three and three out part. One Senior and one Young People made a full surrender. We are getting a fine Brigade of active Corps Cadets.

Newmarket, Ont.

Captain and Mrs. Van der Ven, from Toronto, led the meetings on May 10th and 11th. Mrs. Van der Ven's singing was greatly enjoyed. The Captain's lecture on Holland. The afternoon and his account of his experiences in the Army in various countries were greatly enjoyed. We had record attendances.

There are no subjects which are so much discussed as the stage of conversion.

FROM THE WATCH TOWER.

(Continued from Page 9.)

Before you plan, on a lavish scale and with little regard to expense, for your holidays, won't you help the Army to send some of the little children from the slum streets of the city for a few days at a Fresh Air Camp? What enjoyment you would derive from a holiday commenced in that way!

Salvation Army Officers (says "The Amherst News") in response to an appeal from a child, visited a Baltimore tenement in which a little girl was acting as the mother of three children younger than herself. The Officers noted that the windows were closed, and asked the little girl why she did not let in the sunlight.

"Well, you see," she replied, "the children want to go out to play, and they have no shoes. So if the room is dark they think it is night and do not ask to go out."

A gathering of derelict men, as one may see them in any Army Shelter, some climbing, others still wallowing, is one of the most heart-moving things to be seen anywhere. Even that, however, is for intensity of appeal, surpassed by a chapel full of prisoners. Who would not be deeply stirred by such a scene?

"I can't help it (said a famous singer the other day, in apology for his emotion at the sight of nine hundred convicts, before whom he was singing, "O Paradise!") When I think of these men, shut away from life (he continued), I would rather give them moments of pleasure than sing before kings."

One of the prisoners was so stirred by the singing that he improvised the following lines, which he recited: "We were men once again in a sunlit day."

Sin and grief and penitence—all Were lost in that human trumpet call. Now, then, if such be Christ's spell, How! we doubt that Muslim still conquers hell!"

Adjutant Richards, who has now returned to England, is an Officer of wide experience on the Field. He has commanded some of the leading Corps in Great Britain, and, beside being a man of more than the usual platform ability, is a very acceptable contributor to The Army's periodicals. He has unfortunately been in very poor health for some time, but is slowly recovering. He has kindly promised to write now and then for the Canadian "War Cry."

Who was the author of the following lines? Several versions of them are to be found in print. This one it is said, was scratched on a prison wall by a man who was fully imprisoned:— "We the whole heavens of parliament made; Were every blade of grass a quill, And every man a scribe by trade, To tell the law of God and alone. Would drain the mighty ocean dry: Nor could one scroll contain the whole."

Through stretched from sky to sky. We have on more than one occasion, heard the late General repeat them in his Councils. Perhaps some of our readers can throw a little light upon the authorship?

There are no subjects which are so much discussed as the stage of conversion.

THE WAR CRY.

the cause of Christ could be legitimately considered a part of the work of the Church, and one of those subjects. The Presbyterian Synod of Montreal and Ottawa is presumably not quite sure on the matter. The Rev. J. Lunn asked whether the "social life," which was recommended by Rev. J. Macdougall, to attract young people in rural districts from the lure of the city, meant the holding of dances and card parties under the auspices of the Church, and Mr. Macdougall is reported to have said that all that could be left to the Christian judgment of the pastor.

If the pastor's judgment is always what it ought to be, one need not have much fear, but—well, there is a far higher authority: "Love not the world, neither the things of the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him."

The Army in Prison

NEWS NOTES OF RECENT HAPPENINGS.

Assisting Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Chandler at the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, on Sunday afternoon, May 11, were Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel Rees, Major Fraser, Adjutant Richards (of the Old Land) and Johnstone, and Ensign and Mrs. Dawson. Mrs. Chandler's tender addresses, and the very practical words of Adjutant Richards, especially, were made a blessing to the men and women in the institutions.

On Saturday night (May 10th), Major and Mrs. Fraser, assisted by Captain Anderson, led a meeting in the Central Prison. The "boys" much appreciated this Saturday night "treat."

On the same Sunday, May 11th, Adjutant Calvert and Sister Jessie Russell were in charge of the meetings with the men at Whiteby. They had a good reception, and the meetings were very helpful.

The first meeting at the new-started Post Hill Industrial Farm was conducted by Staff-Captain McAmmond and Adjutant Hubbard on Sunday morning, by request of the Warden. The Farm is situated at Thornhill, near Toronto. The men were delighted to see the Army uniform.

On Sunday, May 11th, Staff-Captain and Mrs. Crichen led at New Westminster, B.C. in the afternoon, the Staff-Captain commended the band. At night, says M. D., one soul surrendered.

On Sunday, May 11th, Staff-Captain and Mrs. Crichen led at New Westminster, B.C. in the afternoon, the Staff-Captain commended the band. At night, says M. D., one soul surrendered.

On Sunday, May 11th, Staff-Captain and Mrs. Crichen led at New Westminster, B.C. in the afternoon, the Staff-Captain commended the band. At night, says M. D., one soul surrendered.

On Sunday, May 11th, Staff-Captain and Mrs. Crichen led at New Westminster, B.C. in the afternoon, the Staff-Captain commended the band. At night, says M. D., one soul surrendered.

card parties under the auspices of the Church, and Mr. Macdougall is reported to have said that all that could be left to the Christian judgment of the pastor.

If the pastor's judgment is always what it ought to be, one need not have much fear, but—well, there is a far higher authority: "Love not the world, neither the things of the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him."

A full Hall always rejoices the heart of a Salvationist; it is an evidence of rising interest. And surely the Officers, Locals, and Soldiers of Lippincott Street Corps had good cause for rejoicing at night, for the people streamed into the Hall till it was crowded to the doors, and the Welcome-Sergeants had to fetch chairs from the Junior Hall.

The meeting opened with the song "O countless salvation," the congregation heartily singing, and only listening to the band, as is the case in some meetings.

Staff-Captain McAmmond, and Mrs. Major Miller led the gathering in prayer, and Mrs. Major Moore read a portion of Scripture.

Phillips followed. Major D. Creighton spoke briefly of the good influence that had been brought to bear on his life right from the time when he had heard the Gospel sung at mother's washin', till he had come in contact with The Salvation Army.

Some warm words of appreciation on behalf of the Corps at having the Commissioner with them for a whole Sunday, were spoken by the Divisional Commander, and Adjutant Debow soloed. "To heal the broken heart, He came."

The Commissioner, who had earlier in the day mentioned his resolve to make the meeting as happy in character as possible, expressed himself as delighted with the result. We were pleased to observe that Mrs. Rees was at his side, a privilege which, owing to the nature of his duties, the Commissioner does not often enjoy.

"Oh, anagny the Lord with me," was the Commissioner's main theme. "It was my attempt at magnifying the Lord that led me to become an Officer," he said, and then related a beautiful story concerning the winning of one of his first converts. At the place where he (the Commissioner) worked at that time, there was a man who was an awful drunkard. Approaching him one day at lunch hour, the Commissioner began to tell him about the great joy he had recently found through giving his heart to God. "Where, where can I find the same joy?" asked the poor drunk, tears streaming down his face.

The Commissioner suggested that they should kneel and pray, and he got the man to repeat the words of that simple children's prayer, "Gentle Jesus, before thou leavest me, I am not worthy, but have mercy on me, and I will be saved." And then, as the Commissioner's words were ringing in his ears, the man's eyes were closed, and he was praying. The Commissioner then told him that he had been a man who was an awful drunkard, and that he had found the same joy through giving his heart to God. "Where, where can I find the same joy?" asked the poor drunk, tears streaming down his face.

The Commissioner suggested that they should kneel and pray, and he got the man to repeat the words of that simple children's prayer, "Gentle Jesus, before thou leavest me, I am not worthy, but have mercy on me, and I will be saved." And then, as the Commissioner's words were ringing in his ears, the man's eyes were closed, and he was praying. The Commissioner then told him that he had been a man who was an awful drunkard, and that he had found the same joy through giving his heart to God. "Where, where can I find the same joy?" asked the poor drunk, tears streaming down his face.

The Commissioner suggested that they should kneel and pray, and he got the man to repeat the words of that simple children's prayer, "Gentle Jesus, before thou leavest me, I am not worthy, but have mercy on me, and I will be saved." And then, as the Commissioner's words were ringing in his ears, the man's eyes were closed, and he was praying. The Commissioner then told him that he had been a man who was an awful drunkard, and that he had found the same joy through giving his heart to God. "Where, where can I find the same joy?" asked the poor drunk, tears streaming down his face.

DAY OF SALVATION.

(Continued from Page 9.)

slender. "It is happiness that the world wants."

The Commissioner had earlier asked Adjutant Cornish to speak, and the Adjutant recalled the happy and character-making days he had spent in the old Training Garrison at Lippincott Street. The battles of those days, he said, had been a great help to him ever since.

A full Hall always rejoices the heart of a Salvationist; it is an evidence of rising interest. And surely the Officers, Locals, and Soldiers of Lippincott Street Corps had good cause for rejoicing at night, for the people streamed into the Hall till it was crowded to the doors, and the Welcome-Sergeants had to fetch chairs from the Junior Hall.

The meeting opened with the song "O countless salvation," the congregation heartily singing, and only listening to the band, as is the case in some meetings.

Staff-Captain McAmmond, and Mrs. Major Miller led the gathering in prayer, and Mrs. Major Moore read a portion of Scripture.

Phillips followed. Major D. Creighton spoke briefly of the good influence that had been brought to bear on his life right from the time when he had heard the Gospel sung at mother's washin', till he had come in contact with The Salvation Army.

Some warm words of appreciation on behalf of the Corps at having the Commissioner with them for a whole Sunday, were spoken by the Divisional Commander, and Adjutant Debow soloed. "To heal the broken heart, He came."

The Commissioner, who had earlier in the day mentioned his resolve to make the meeting as happy in character as possible, expressed himself as delighted with the result. We were pleased to observe that Mrs. Rees was at his side, a privilege which, owing to the nature of his duties, the Commissioner does not often enjoy.

"Oh, anagny the Lord with me," was the Commissioner's main theme. "It was my attempt at magnifying the Lord that led me to become an Officer," he said, and then related a beautiful story concerning the winning of one of his first converts. At the place where he (the Commissioner) worked at that time, there was a man who was an awful drunkard. Approaching him one day at lunch hour, the Commissioner began to tell him about the great joy he had recently found through giving his heart to God. "Where, where can I find the same joy?" asked the poor drunk, tears streaming down his face.

The Commissioner suggested that they should kneel and pray, and he got the man to repeat the words of that simple children's prayer, "Gentle Jesus, before thou leavest me, I am not worthy, but have mercy on me, and I will be saved." And then, as the Commissioner's words were ringing in his ears, the man's eyes were closed, and he was praying. The Commissioner then told him that he had been a man who was an awful drunkard, and that he had found the same joy through giving his heart to God. "Where, where can I find the same joy?" asked the poor drunk, tears streaming down his face.

The Commissioner suggested that they should kneel and pray, and he got the man to repeat the words of that simple children's prayer, "Gentle Jesus, before thou leavest me, I am not worthy, but have mercy on me, and I will be saved." And then, as the Commissioner's words were ringing in his ears, the man's eyes were closed, and he was praying. The Commissioner then told him that he had been a man who was an awful drunkard, and that he had found the same joy through giving his heart to God. "Where, where can I find the same joy?" asked the poor drunk, tears streaming down his face.

The Commissioner suggested that they should kneel and pray, and he got the man to repeat the words of that simple children's prayer, "Gentle Jesus, before thou leavest me, I am not worthy, but have mercy on me, and I will be saved." And then, as the Commissioner's words were ringing in his ears, the man's eyes were closed, and he was praying. The Commissioner then told him that he had been a man who was an awful drunkard, and that he had found the same joy through giving his heart to God. "Where, where can I find the same joy?" asked the poor drunk, tears streaming down his face.

Privilege and Responsibility

FIRST OF A SERIES OF VALUABLE ARTICLES SPECIALLY PREPARED FOR LOCAL OFFICERS.

MAJOR SOPER
(Continued from Page 8.)

She supposed she had experienced the discouragements that are at times common to all Army Officers, but the great joy of seeing the girls getting converted and leading changed lives far outweighed the discouragement.

"By far the larger number of women and girls we have received," said the Major, "have been permanently reclaimed, and many of these are soundly converted, as is evidenced by their changed and consistent lives."

"We follow them up very carefully after they leave the Homes, both by correspondence and visitation, and our Service Girls Officers are a most essential member of our Staff. I regard this as a most important branch of our Work—one in which our labour is well repaid, and without which no such permanent results could be obtained, as we are able to show to-day."

Fighting Her Way Through.

The greatest difficulties the Major has experienced at Plymouth have arisen from the financial burdens of the work, but she was happy to say that by means of their industries, needlework and laundry, aided by subscriptions, both Homes are now entirely supporting themselves.

Major Soper's earliest recollections of The Army date back to the days when she was at school in London. Her sister, Mrs. General Booth, was already an Officer, just leaving to assist in the opening of our Work in France, and the Major attended the memorable meetings which were being conducted by Mrs. Booth, The Army Mother, in the West End of London. "There," she says, "in the Steinway Hall, my heart was awakened, and although I cannot claim to have been there and then converted, those meetings led to my conversion and my call to Officer-ship, as I recognized even then that conversion would involve my entering the service of The Army."

The Major's call was put to the test by opposition in the family circle. "We had to fight hard battles to become Salvationists and Officers," says the Major, referring to the experience of Mrs. Booth and herself in those days. "We had been carefully brought up in the Church of England, and my dear father was strongly opposed to his daughters' becoming Salvationists." But in time he became reconciled to the fact, and long before the Lord took him from us had learned to admire The Army—even to be proud of our positions in it.

Speaking of the help she has received from associates with Local Officers, the Major said: "The present General and my dear sister, Mrs. Booth have undoubtedly had the greatest influence upon my life, and I have been privileged beyond my comrades in being so near them. Commissioner Cox, now in full charge of our Women's Social Work in England, but always Mrs. Booth's able second, is one to whom I owe much, while as a more personal friend, especially in the early Plymouth days, I am greatly indebted for helpful counsel and inspiring example of holy boldness to Lieut.-Col. Louis Bennett.

Twenty-five Hours a Day!
Regarding her tour in Canada, the Major says she has plenty of work before her. In her apt and cheerful address at the gathering of Officers who met to welcome her, she said that the successful fulfilment of her mission would involve hard work and long days. During the previous

THE Local Officer of The Salvation Army occupies a position of usefulness, influence, and privilege unsurpassed by that of any lay-worker in the world. It is gratifying to know that the opportunities afforded by the various posts included in the provision made for the appointment of Local Officers are taken advantage of by such a vast and ever-increasing number of Salvationists in all parts of the world. From the snows of the Shetlands to Japan, in the rice-fields of India, the fishing villages of Newfoundland, the orchards of Tasmania, the rural districts, and the islands in the sea, the Local Officers of the noblest Army the world has ever seen are scattered to some 33,727 strong, a credit to The Army, a blessing to mankind, and a joy to the Saviour.

From the earliest days of Christian Church the need of whole-hearted men and women, willing to assume responsibility and authority in assisting in the administration of the affairs of the Kingdom, has been evident. It was one of the first Local Officers, Stephen, the dauntless, fearless saint and soldier, full of faith and of the Holy Ghost, who had the matchless honour of being the first to follow the Saviour along the blood-stained track of martyrdom. Stephen stands out before us for all time as an example of what God can do in and through a humble man who earnestly and faithfully does his duty, and carries out the responsibilities of his office, "fearing God and fearing nothing else." What an inspiration it is to reflect on this noble life—the true type and forerunner of all the mighty hosts of Local Officers who should follow in his train! (He ended his career gloriously on his knees, with vision of Christ before his eyes, and a prayer for his murderers on his lips.)

On the Roll of The Salvation Army there are inscribed the names of precious Local Officers who have also laid down their lives for God in the days of riots and persecutions, and with vagrancy in the Toronto Police Court, who, in his defence, declared that on a certain day of the last week he had done twenty-five good works! He could not hope to reach that Canadian standard of industry, but would do his best to rise to it.

The Major is greatly impressed with The Army's opportunities in Canada, as she has seen them in Toronto. "If we are only faithful to God and to the principles that have made The Army what it is," she says, "it seems to me the country will be at our feet."

We bespeak for the Major, who is accompanied by Captain Arnold, the sympathy and help of our comrades everywhere along her journey, although we feel sure, the request is quite unnecessary, that they will be delighted to serve her.

HOW TO GROW YOUNGER.

(Continued from Page 1.)

Toronto Metropolitan, where one of his chief regrets was that there was so little opportunity for meetings with the young. Meetings have been held, however, every Sunday, from one to two p.m., and the Adjutant has always encouraged the lodgers to attend at the Temple in the world, of which Corps he was pleased to and have won the martyr's crown. It is not given to many, however, in these days, to finish up by one glorious act of heroism like this. On the contrary, the great majority are required to give their lives daily by renouncing ease, comfort, and rest in order to devote their leisure time to the interests of the Salvation War.

The value and importance of the service thus rendered it is impossible to over-estimate. How great a source of strength to any Corps is a good band of Local Officers; individually fulfilling the duties for which they are responsible, collectively ensuring the harmonious working of the various branches of the work and regularity of administration and continuity of policy in the Corps.

Moreover, should sickness overtake the Commanding Officer, or the needs of the War necessitate his temporary absence from the Corps, it is the Local Officers who carry on the work and keep up the Flag. Repeatedly we have seen instances of Corps which have been of necessity left entirely to Local Officers who have pushed on the War, cleared the debts, and opened the way for the re-appointment of Field Officers.

Perhaps the great opportunity the Local Officer possesses is that of exercising a powerful influence for good in the Corps. Influence is limited, in the very nature of things, both in its scope and duration, but influence has no bounds; it may reach to the farthest shore and last to the latest hour of time. Whether it be the veteran who has borne the burden and heat of the day, and whose breast is adorned with the Long-service Badge, or the young man or woman who has just assumed the responsibilities of office, amongst all the thirty positions that are provided for by the Regulations, there is not one that does not give the Local Officer filling the same a chance of glorifying God and doing a work for Him which shall stand the test of time and be seen in its full fruition in Eternity.

(To be continued.)

Sunday of his good-bye at the Toronto Metropolitan were ten Salvationists taking part in his meeting, most of whom had been brought to God by means of the Institution.

One of these was a backslider from the Old Country. He stayed at the Metropolitan some time, was restored, and is now a Local Officer of one of the City Corps.

Another convert had been living too fast for his money had run out. He had sent his wife home to England. He was influenced by the Metropolitan meetings, and through the mercy of God, Ever since taking that decision he has been paying off his debts—excellent proof of the change in his heart.

He is now happily to be seen to bring out his wife in a few weeks from now. He is doing well in his employment, and has just got intimation of a rise in wages of two dollars a week.

The Adjutant is succeeded in Toronto by Captain and Mrs. Nicholson from Ottawa.

East Toronto.
On Tuesday, May 13th, one comrade got the blessing of a clean heart. We had with us Cadet Jones and Cadet Mrs. Fry. Their testimonies were very helpful.

PROMOTED TO GLORY.

Mother Pike, of Paradise Sound. The mother of Sister Mrs. Monk has recently been taken to her Heavenly Home. For many years she was blind and thus unable to attend meetings. When visited, however, she always had a bright testimony. She enjoyed good health until a few days before her death. She was eighty-nine years of age. The funeral service was conducted by Lieutenant Forward on April 17th. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.

Sister Mrs. Barrett, of Twillingate. Sister Mrs. Barrett, a veteran in Army warfare (having been a Soldier for twenty years) has laid down the sword to take up the victor's palm, writes Captain A. J. Moore. Previous to her sickness which lasted for over a year, she was always an active worker in the Corps, and ever ready to witness for her Lord.

Sister Mrs. Barrett.

She will be missed, for her life was an inspiration and her influence was for good.

The funeral service, which was very impressive, was conducted by Ensign Earle on April 19th. The following Sunday night a memorial service was held.

Sister Mrs. Hindy, of Winterton. Winterton has lost a loyal Soldier in the person of Mrs. Richard Hindy. Although this comrade was unable to attend the meetings for a long while, she was ever willing to assist in any possible way. She was Assistant Band of Love Sergeant, and never failed to do all that she could.

When visited by the Officers and comrades she would tell them that death had no sting for her. On the morning of her death, she called all her loved ones to her side and made them promise to meet her in Heaven. The chariot lowered on Saturday, April 26th, and on Sunday, April 27th, we laid her to rest. A funeral service was conducted by Captain and Mrs. Oake, and was largely attended. The memorial service, conducted Sunday night, was a very solemn time.

It was a very solemn time, with the husband and three children, father and mother, and all relatives we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

Riverdale.
On Sunday, May 18th, Sister Blackly, late of Paris, Ont., was welcomed to the Corps. Captain Hodgson, late of International Headquarters, also spoke. At night, two soldiers knelt at the Mercy Seat. Adon's knelt at the Mercy Seat. Adon's knelt at the Mercy Seat. Adon's knelt at the Mercy Seat.

The Corps' Self-Denial target is smashed.

Our International News Letter

INTERNATIONAL ITEMS.

South Africa's Memorial Scheme to the late General was to have been launched at Cape Town by Commander Eddie early in May, and it was expected that Viscount Gladstone would preside at the inaugural meeting.

The Premier of Victoria (Australia), the Hon. W. H. Watt, recently visited International Headquarters, and had an interview with The General.

Commissioner and Mrs. Booth-Tucker have recently conducted the Annual Congress for the Punjab Territory of India.

In connection with The Army's Annual Exhibition in Singapore, to be held early in June, the Commissioner is holding a Council with the Territorial Commanders.

Colonel Forman was invited as representative of The Army to attend the dedication service of the new Swedish Church in Paris (France). The service was conducted by the Bishop of Scheele, in the presence of His Majesty the King of Sweden.

Colonel Rothwell, on behalf of the Salvationists of Jamaica, tendered a letter of welcome to the new Governor, Sir William Manning, K.C.M.G., on his arrival in the colony, to which His Excellency sent a gracious reply.

Colonel Unsworth recently visited Belgium, Holland, Germany, and Switzerland in connection with the work of the International League for the Protection of Women and Children.

Lieut.-Colonel Friedrich, Editor of The Army's Australian papers, and well known in Canada, visited a number of Salvationist Corps during May.

Lieut.-Colonel Martin, Secretary for the Staff College, has been transferred to the Foreign Office, International Headquarters, and appointed Under-Secretary for Europe. Before appointment to the Staff College, the Colonel was Chief Secretary in Germany, and in connection with his present appointment, his knowledge of German, as well as of Swedish, will be particularly useful.

Brigadier Nicholson, Editor of "All the World," recently visited France, Switzerland, and Italy in search of "copy." He was present at the meetings conducted at Lausanne by The General and by Mrs. Booth.

Among the latest acceptances as Candidates in Great Britain is Corps Coder, Olive Booth, the fourth daughter of General and Mrs. Booth.

Since the enlargement of the Finnish War Cry ("Krigsroset") its circulation has increased twenty-five per cent. Congratulations!

Brigadier Jeannot, the Provisional Officer for Belgium, reports that our comrades in that country have raised 6831 francs (about $46) during their Self-Denial Effort. This is the highest amount yet raised in Belgium.

Mrs. Commissioner Oliphant is conducting drawing-room meetings, as well as leading public meetings in various churches and chapels in some of the largest cities of Italy.

AT AHMEDABAD.

This is how a correspondent to the Indian "War Cry" reported a meeting which Commissioner and Mrs. Booth Tucker conducted at a Gujarat city—

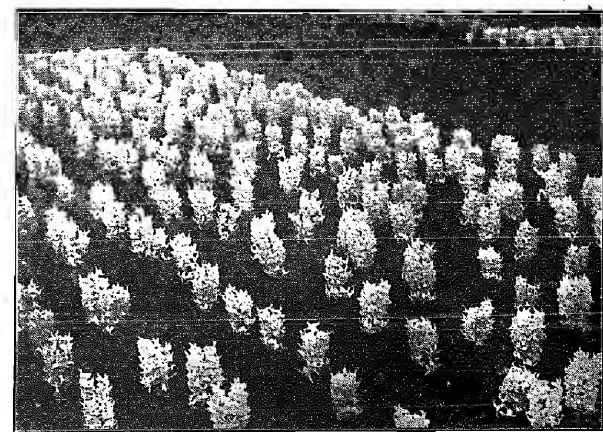

"A great, excited, good-humoured crowd, listening eagerly to the Commissioner's illustrated lecture on the Work of The Salvation Army. Many were students from the various colleges, whilst officials of all grades were present."

"Heartily was the reception given to the pictures of the King and Queen, Lord Hardinge, the Commissioners and Colonels Sukh Singh and Mithrai."

"Many were the exclamations of pleasure 'Emanating from the crowd when certain pleasing pictures were shown.'"

"Denoting the keen interest with which the lecture was followed, which is 'Always a pleasure to the lecturers.'"

"Besides all this, the pictures of our late beloved General, and his glorified wife, and the present General and Mrs. Booth, each received a great ovation."

Beautiful Blooms in Holland. The hyacinths in Holland have been blooming for some time (says "The Toronto Star Weekly"). From Haarlem to Lisse, a distance of about twenty miles, the fields are a mass of bloom in all colours.

"And all seemed pleased to know of the work of the four men."

"Devoted efforts of our dear people."

It will be seen that the first letter of each paragraph forms an acrostic.

SOUTH AMERICAN ITEMS.

During a recent visit to La Plata, Colonel and Mrs. Mayo were the guests of Mrs. Hussey, Director of the Observatory there, and Mrs. Hussey. It is an interesting circumstance that the acquaintance of Mrs. Hussey was made during the Colonel's recent voyage from New York to Buenos Ayres to take up his appointment.

Brigadier Bonnett, who pioneered the work of The Army in Chile, and is maintaining an uphill fight there, has just been on a visit to Buenos Ayres to confer with Colonel Mayo.

STRIKING AND COMPELLING.

Such an outstanding figure as General Booth in the achievements of Christian enterprise deserves not only honour, but analysis and close study. The world may well be grateful that such a dynamo of spiritual energy and expression was able to live and work throughout a life of intensest activity in a worldwide field of the most desperate human need. Commissioner Railton has provided a detailed and vivid narrative of the development of General Booth from boyhood to the rich and stirring days of a vigorous, militant old age.

Wrapped up in the life of this marvelous human engine is the story of the beginnings of The Salvation Army, and the circumstantial and progressive account of its enormous extension throughout the world.

The student of Christian progress should not miss the opportunity to place among his most striking and compelling books of inspiration the Soldiers of The Army. It was an exceedingly fine meeting, and at the close eleven souls, representing three more families, came out for salvation. There are now only seven families in this village who are not converted, and we expect they will soon decide for Christ."

"Many villages," concludes the Major, "are calling to us. The great need is for men and money."

"MAGICIAN" GETS SAVED.

Commissioner Ogrim, of Sweden, has, during the last ten weeks, led ten Divisional Councils, one in each Division. During this time he has conducted thirty private meetings for Soldiers and Local Officers. Fifty Officers' Councils, and forty-five public meetings. About 370 Soldiers and converted friends have brought their all to God at the altar, and 145 sinners have sought the Saviour. During the ten children's meetings, 128 children have also come to the Penitent-form.

To the Commissioner's meeting at Borlänge, a very large paper mill, about ten miles from Borlänge, invited as many workers as would like to hear the Commissioner to drive story of William Booth's life. The fervor and fire and sustained intensity of this man of vision through a long life of the hardest kind of up-hill work will stir the blood and quicken the altruistic heart of any one who has any heart left in his bosom—"S. S. Times."

INDIAN VICTORIES.

Writing from Madras, Major Anand Singh says:—"I have just visited the village of Modgunda, in the Nellore Division, and have sworn in 120 men, women, and children as Senior or Junior Soldiers, who came to us over a year ago. Since then they have been under instruction, and having proved faithful, they have now received new names, and been received as down for nothing in an extra trial, which would wait for them, bringing them back when the meeting was over."

"In Norkoping, amongst others who came to the Penitent-form, we prayed with a 'magician,' Mrs. Major Richter. When that was reported in 'The War Cry,' the leading paper of the penitents at once asked the Commanding Officer of the Corps on the phone whether it was the well-known 'P. V.' who had got salvation. It was 'P. V.' Later on the Editor of 'The War Cry' had the joy to swear in 'P. V.' as a Soldier of the Corps."

You might as well try to cure smallpox by scenery as to try to save the world by improvement of environment.

The Boy That Disappeared

A STORY OF THE HELP AND INQUIRY DEPARTMENT

By BRIGADIER EILEEN DOUGLAS.

"The Boy That Disappeared" is published by courtesy of the New York "War Cry." We need scarcely add that the Help and Inquiry Department, whose good work the story represents, is also a valued feature of the Canadian Social operations.—Ed.

on the step. Nannie looked at him keenly; he was a very different type to the men that frequented that house. To her utter astonishment, instead of asking what rooms were to let, he said:

"I want to see Miss Nannie Robinson."

"'Tis Nannie!" she almost gasped. He smiled. "Your mother asked her lap while tears of joy and thanksgiving rained down upon it. And as she sat another idea was born within her—an idea that even to herself appeared so wild, and fantastical, and impracticable that she could not confide it to any one, and even as she surreptitiously carried it out she called herself an old fool, and almost blushed for shame

"Mrs. Robinson held the letter on her lap while tears of joy and thanksgiving rained down upon it."

me to call and see if you were comfortable. Let us go inside. I have some messages from her."

The outcome of that chat was that Nannie and her new friend left the house together, in spite of the threats of the landlady, who declared she would have "the law of them."

Another letter removed all trace of uneasiness from Mrs. Robinson's mind concerning Nannie. She was quite safe with The Army, it said, and would be looked after and cared for till a suitable place could be found for her.

Mrs. Robinson held the letter on there in her lonely twilight sitting-room.

CHAPTER VII.—GATHERED THREADS.

I looked for evil, stem of face or pale; Came good too fair in tell. I lean on God when other joys did fail.

He gave me these as well. After Mr. Scott had sold out his business and left, South America had no longer any attraction for George Robinson. How much he missed the dear old man only he could tell. There was no one now misguided mind to tell her that a pure, quiet mind and a love for home are what her heart is crying for all the time. It would take some telling to convince her now, as it has such a grey, drab sound. All her muscles have been trained except her moral muscles, and they are weak as a day old kitten's.

"So she stands before the judge on a fearful charge of vagrancy, and midnight streets and strange men—all out of keeping with her baby eyes and mouth. And in the court room there is an older woman with hard, quick eyes and a thin, straight nose. Her dress is immaculate, though her color is a trifle high. Black silk, which veiled half—the pretty things that Alice wants. This woman, who is Alice closely, following her every glance, even when to care whether he was happy, whether his deepest indignation or tinged with last some of his life, particularly as he was of an emotional disposition and had no expensive tastes. So after he had seen Mr. Scott off to a distant land, he made his way towards the States, and finally settled down in Philadelphia, where he got on rapidly.

But the better for someone it would care to hear about it. It was all very well to get on and make money, and have folks say you were lucky, but, after all, what did it amount to if you were lonely and homesick and friendless? After a period of such contemplation bitter feelings would take possession of him, and have for the man that had so brutally defrauded him of the best life he has to offer any human being used to surge through his being. Some day, he said to himself, some day—he would have his revenge if he could ever lay hands upon him! That thought was his only comfort at times.

However, something happened after he had been in the States a few years that put an end to all these designs. George was converted. He was out one evening and stayed by the sight of some people drifting into a little mission hall he followed them and stayed through the meeting. It was a very simple address he listened to—just the old story of Jesus. A child could have understood every word and for that matter, George knew it all by heart; but this evening he felt that not only was every word true, but that it was true for him. That "Whosoever will" and "Come unto Me" meant George Robinson. And he came and found not only rest for his soul, but a friend that knew how to comfort as father or mother might. The bitterness died out of his heart, peace and content reigned instead, for he understood now that even the wrath of man could be made to praise God.

In course of time God sent other gifts. A wife and two lovely little sons made life glad and sweet. There was no reflection in George's eyes now, but the mother-ward was never wholly appeased, and daily he prayed God to let him see, or hear, or know something about his mother.

Mr. Scott was an old man now, but he had never forgotten his young friend, George Robinson. "Of all the people I ever met or knew in foreign lands," he used to tell his neighbors, "none have kept so fresh in my mind as the lad George Robinson. Not that he was a middle-aged man, getting on close to forty. It must be the watch-chain keeps him in mind," he would add.

(To be continued.)

the judge has remanded her on suspended sentence, and she goes out hand in hand with a Salvation Army woman, and the court wishes some miracle would clear Alice's eyes that she might see the radiant beauty of the plumed sergeant with his red hand, and the leprosy horror of the fringed silk, the roses, and the paint.

"At the other end of the row sat May, who is almost at the end of the path on which Alice is starting. She has no pretty clothes and her color she has in looking painful enough, beyond saying that all the wickedness is telling here. And what she has for a sentence of ninety days she looks into space with unseeing eyes."

WHAT WOULD YOU SAY?

Supposing You Were Looking Back Over Life's Finished Story?

It is not often that we are able to make practical use of the descriptions of dreams and visions, but the following, received from a Captain on the Canadian Field, is an exception, which we hope may be made a means of blessing:—

I was a very young Officer at the time I passed through the experience related below; in fact, I had only just taken charge of my first Corps as Captain, and was finding the work a little trying and difficult. Souls did not get saved in large numbers; the Soldiers did not seem as faithful and energetic as they might have been; finances were sometimes pretty low, and the tempter (as is his wont) used to whisper all sorts of suggestions to discourage a poor mortal.

One night after I had gone to rest, I dreamed I was standing in The Army Hall. The meeting had closed, and I was having a few moments' conversation with the "Sergeant-Major and a few comrades before going home, when, suddenly, we heard outside a noise like thunder, but louder than any thunder that I have ever heard. We all stopped talking for a moment; then one of the comrades exclaimed, "I believe it's the end of the world!"

That was the thought that had also occurred to my mind and it seemed that each one present must have thought the same, for all made a rush towards the door.

Somewhat I got separated from the others, and just as I reached the main road, I looked up to the sky and there I saw the "Saviour" coming in the clouds. It seemed to be unlike any picture of Him that I have ever seen; for brighter and more glorious, and I immediately thought of the light that Saul saw—"Above the brightness of the sun." Such was the brightness of His glory that I was only able to look upon Him for a moment, and then I fell upon my face and seemed to lose consciousness.

When I came to myself I knelt up and saw, right in front of me, standing a man dressed entirely in black. He offered me his hand, presumably to assist me to rise, and I took it. But somehow or other I did not feel at ease in his presence; so, after holding his hand for a short time, I let go and turned about on my knees; and there, standing before me in the roadway, was my Saviour. Not bright as I had seen Him before, but perfectly white and pure looking, and with a look of love and tenderness on His face which it would be impossible for me to describe.

He extended His hand to me and I grasped it. At the touch a thrill of joy seemed to go through my whole being. He assisted me to rise, and then, still holding my hand, walked beside me up a hill.

No word passed between us, but as we walked along I noticed by the side of the road certain vessels, such as jugs and basins, and upon each of these an inscription. Upon one was marked "Youth," on another "Manhood," and on another, "Trials and Difficulties." While passing he once marked "Trials and Difficulties" there seemed to be some unseen pressure keeping me back, and a feeling as if thorns were piercing my breast, but with the help of my Saviour, who was still beside me, I got safely past. And then I saw a vessel marked "Peace," and while passing that one everything seemed pleasant.

There were other inscriptions which I cannot remember. The next one that stands out in my memory was "Old Age." While passing this the hill seemed to grow steep and difficult to climb, but eventually we gained the top, and stood looking back over the way we had travelled. Then it occurred to me that I ought to say something—some word of thanks to my Saviour for His love and care in leading me safely along the way. I could think of nothing appropriate for a moment; then I thought of and started to repeat the third verse of Song No. 499 in the large Song Book:—

"Only Thee, I ask no other, 'Thou art more than all to me; Life and health and creature comforts."

I would give them all for thee."

Thereupon I awoke, but I realized that God had spoken to me and had revealed to me the path I should tread. Getting up I knelt down in my little room and renewed my conversation in the words of the verse mentioned above; and I am glad to say to readers of this paper that I am still living in the spirit of that consecration.

ONLY A WORM!

The fertility of the valley of the White Nile is renowned. British scientific surveys report that its remarkable productiveness is due in large part to the diligence of earthworms, which have been digging it for thousands of years.

Observations are recorded showing that during the active six months of each year the castings of the worms brought to the surface there amount to about 200,000 pounds an acre. Spread out evenly, this would make an appreciable annual layer.

Darwin estimated that the castings of five years in England would cover the whole kingdom with a layer of new earth an inch thick.

In the Nile Valley the layer would doubtless be thicker were the worms equally numerous and busy, as appears to be the case, because the proportion of new-cast earth there is much less than in the British Isles.

It must be remembered, also, that, in addition to the beneficial service of stirring up the soil, admitting air and water more easily, and bringing deep deposits to the surface, there is a constant fertilization effected by the vegetable matter dragged into their burrows by the worms, much of which is left to decay where it will do the most good.—Harper's Weekly.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

If, owing to distance from a Corps or irregularity of delivery, you have any difficulty in getting "The War Cry" or "The Young Soldier" week by week, why not make sure of receiving the paper regularly by subscribing for it to be sent to you by post? The subscription rates are as under:

For "The War Cry."—To territory west of Fort William, to Newfoundland, Great Britain, and Ireland, The United States, and all other countries in the postal union, $2.00 per annum. To territory east of Fort William, $3 per annum.

For "The Young Soldier."—Throughout Canada, 50c per annum. The British Isles, the United States, and other countries in the postal union, $1.00 per annum.

Orders should be addressed: The Trade Secretary, Territorial Headquarters, James and Albert Streets.

Before his translation Enoch pleased God. Many people think they must put off pleasing Him till they get to Heaven.

Caps, Hats, and Bonnets

- LADIES' CHIP HATS.
 Sizes 4, 5, and 6. Each.....$2.75
- LADIES' BEST PEDAL STRAW HATS.
 Sizes 4, 5, and 6. Each.....$4.00
- LADIES' BONNETS.
 Quality 4; sizes 4, 5, and 6. Each.....$2.25
 Quality 6; sizes 4, 5, and 6. Each.....$2.25
- LADIES' DRESS GOODS.
 An excellent piece of Dark Navy Lustre, per yard, net.....60c

A Beautiful Miniature Portrait Bust of The Late General, postpaid 10c

BAND CAPS.

- White Duck, light and comfortable to the head.
 Sizes 6 1/2 to 7 1/4.....$1.25
 Blue Regulation, very strong and serviceable.
 Sizes as above.....$2.25
 Private's Caps. Sizes as above.....$2.00

MEN'S UNIFORMS.

Prices for Suits range from $14.00 to $20.00. Tailor-made. SEND FOR SAMPLES AND MEASUREMENT FORMS.

Your Opportunity is now to secure an excellent addition to your library

"Life of General William Booth," by G. S. Raiter, his first Commissioner, postpaid.....50c
 "The S. A. Year Book" for 1913, by Colonel Theodore Kitching. This publication contains a mine of information. No F.O. Candidate, or Soldier should be without it. Postpaid.....35c

A Remittance of $3.25 Will Secure the Above to Any Address in Canada. Address All orders to the TRADE SECRETARY, James and Albert Streets.

"Life of Mr. General Booth," 2-vol. edition, $1.50
 "The S. A. Year Book" for 1913, by Colonel Theodore Kitching. This publication contains a mine of information. No F.O. Candidate, or Soldier should be without it. Postpaid.....35c

Love of Fine Clothes

FATAL ATTRACTION TO CERTAIN TYPE OF WOMAN.

Beginning and End of the Way of Shame.

For love of fine clothes! What will not some young women give and sacrifice rather than bear the reproach of being neatly, but plainly, attired! "A woman, plainly, but rather well dressed," said patently for an hour," says The Toronto Daily Star, "of a few days ago, in the receiving ward of the Cincinnati Hospital, and when her turn finally came she started the receiving clerk by stating that she wished to sell her body to buy fine clothes. "I want new clothes badly, and

I thought I might be able to sell my body to some doctor in this institution to be delivered after my natural death."

"She seemed greatly disappointed when it was explained to her that her proposition could not be entertained."

But one sees the painful results of this fatal folly too more powerfully in the Women's Court, as the following extract from "The Toronto Telegram" will show:— "There are so many things to take care of a girl's mind in the city. In the glare of the arc lights, to have the smartest hat, the latest hair dressing, the lowest Dutch neck, the highest heels, the reddest cheeks, and loudest laugh—that is life. No one has ever worried themselves enough into Alice's excitable and

ARMY SONGS

HOLINESS.

Tunes—1 have not much to give,
B.J., 88, Evan, 31.
1 And is it so? A gift from me
Dost Thou, dear Lord, request?
Then speak Thy will, whatever it be,
Obeying, I am blest.

Chorus.

1 have not much to give Thee, Lord,
For that great love which made
Thy love mine;
1 have not much to give Thee, Lord,
But all I have is Thine.

And dost Thou ask a gift from me—
The talents I possess?
Such as I have I give to Thee,
That others I may bless.

And dost Thou ask a gift from me—
The gift of passing time?
My hours I'll give, not grudgingly,
I feel by right they're Thine.

Tunes—Whiter than snow, 292.
2 Tell me what to do to be pure
In the sight of the all-seeing eyes!

Tell me, is there no thorough cure,
No escape from the sins I despise?
Tell me, can I never be free
From this terrible bondage which binds?

Is there no deliverance for me?
Must I always have sin dwell within?

Chorus.

Whiter than the snow!
Will my Saviour only pass by—
Only to show me how faulty I've been?

Will He not attend to my cry?
Can I not at this moment be cleansed?

Blessed Lord, Almight to heal,
I know that Thy power cannot fail.
Here and now I know—yes, I feel,
The prayer of my heart does prevail.

PRAISE.

Tunes—Fountain drinking, B. J., 43; Song Book, No. 263.
3 Of Him Who did salvation bring,
I'm at the fountain drinking;
I could for ever think and sing:
I'm on my journey home.

Chorus.

Glorify to God!
I'm at the fountain drinking;
Glorify to God!
I'm on my journey home.

Ask but His grace, and lo! 'tis given;
Ask, and He'll turn your hell to Heaven.

Though sin and sorrow wound
your soul,
Jesus, Thy balm will make it whole.

Let all the world fall down and know
That none but God such love can show.

SALVATION.

Tunes—Down in the garden, 29.
Song Book, No. 8.
4 Dark was the hour—Gethsemane.
When through thy walks was heard
The lowly Man of Galilee
Still pleading with the Lord.

Alone in sorrow see Him bow,
As all our griefs He bears;
Not words may tell His anguish
now.

But sweat, and blood, and tears,
For me He prays, I hear Him pray,
He will my soul receive.
Now, Jesus, take my sins away;
Now, Jesus, I believe.

The General to visit Canada

General W. Bramwell Booth will (D.V.) visit the Dominion during the first week of November next. He will conduct the Fall Congress in Toronto, and visit other large centres. Further particulars will be made known in due course.

THE COMMISSIONER

Toronto Temple, Monday, June 9. (Commissioning of Cadets, 8 p.m.)

Commissioner Lamb

COLONEL AND MRS. GASKIN
Lippincott Street, June 8.

BRIGADIER WALKER
(Accompanied by English Church.)
Whitby Farm, June 1.

BRIGADIER HARGRAVE
Brandon, May 29.
Portage la Prairie, May 30.
Winnipeg 1, May 31 and June 1.

Winnipeg 2, June 2.
(All Candidates or intending Candidates.)

Calgary 1, June 8.

(Major McLean will accompany.)

didates should endeavour to see the Brigadier at the above places.)

BRIGADIER CAMERON
Toronto Temple, June 1.

THE TERRITORIAL STAFF BAND,
Oshawa, June 7 and 8.

Yorkeville, June 12 and 13.

MAJOR AND MRS. FINDLAY, Lisgar Street, June 1.

MAJOR MORRIS,
St. Thomas, June 1.

AN ENTIRELY NEW SERVICE

THE DEDICATION of the present Session of CADETS to Officer-ship in The Salvation Army will be conducted by

THE COMMISSIONER

in The Salvation Army Temple, James and Albert Streets, in the afternoon of

MONDAY, JUNE 9th, AT 3 O'CLOCK.

THE CHIEF SECRETARY, COLONEL SYDNEY MAIDMENT, all Staff and Field Officers of Toronto, and the Territorial Staff Band, will be in attendance.

Tickets of admission to this service can be secured, without charge, from Lieut.-Colonel Chandler, 24 Albert Street; Brigadier Taylor, 135 Sherborne Street, and all Commanding Officers in the city.

TERRITORIAL NEWSLETS.

(Continued from Page 8.)

Adjutant William Squire, 135 of Lippincott Street Corps, Toronto, conducted the noon-day prayer meeting at Territorial Headquarters on Tuesday, May 13th.

Adjutant and Mrs. McCurdy, late of India, and who have been resting in the Old Land, conducted an emigrant party to this country, and are remaining here for some months.

A son was born to Ensign and Mrs. Owen, on May 12th, while they were on the Atlantic Ocean travelling from Bermuda to New York. They will very shortly proceed to Mrs. Owen's home in Kingston, Ont., for a brief furlough.

Captain E. Pagnier, of Territorial Headquarters, is conducting a party of emigrants from Quebec to Vancouver. The Captain left for the former port of landing on Thursday morning, May 22nd.

Captain Herbert Estill returns to the Old Land via Canada, sailing from Montreal on the "Laurentic" on May 27th.

Captain Boscovick, of Dresden, is being relieved of Corps work for the present. It is feared that she will shortly have to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Captain Hodgson, of International Headquarters, London, England, is furloughing in Toronto.

Brother Palmer, who sailed from England on April 26th, as conductor of a party of new settlers on the "Laurentic," visited Headquarters a few days ago. Our comrade is himself transferring to Canada, and will become a Soldier here.

Mrs. Ensign Keith, for many years an Officer in the British Field, and mother of Staff-Bandman Keith, was due to arrive in Toronto on Thursday, May 22nd. Mrs. Keith has, for some time, been connected with the Women's Section of The Army's Trade Headquarters in London, England, but is now transferred to Canada, and will shortly be appointed to the Women's Social Work.

The wedding of Bandman Jones and Sister Lily Hodgson, late of England and the U.S.A., is to be conducted by Lieut.-Colonel Chandler on June 7th, at Breckinridge, where the Colonel, with Mrs. Chandler, will also lead the Sunday's meetings.

Parliament Street, Toronto.

Captain and Mrs. Van der Ven conducted the week-end meetings,
May 10th and 11th. On Saturday, the Captain gave an interesting account of life in Holland. Sunday's meetings were well attended, and on Sunday night Captain Van der Ven spoke on The Army's Work in Holland, and some of its effects. One young man came forward for salvation.

Mrs. Van der Ven and Corps Cadets George and Gertrude took part in all the meetings, and their singing in both Dutch and English was greatly enjoyed. Five open-air meetings were conducted during the day.

Prince Albert, Sask.

A backslidden sister, whom God blessed in days gone by in winning souls, returned to the fold on Sunday, May 17th, as did a brother. Our sister's husband was dealing with a man at the Mercy Seat when she came out. When he had helped this brother, imagine his joy at seeing his wife at the Mercy Seat. He himself came back only a few weeks ago, when in Toronto on a visit.

Corps Sergeant-Major Pierce has been welcomed home. Captain Allan has been a recent visitor. Captain Torrance and Lieutenant Foulter are our Officers.

WE ARE
Looking for You

READ THIS

To Parents, Relatives, and Friends:

We will search for missing persons in any part of the globe, husband, and, as far as possible, assist wronged women and children, or anyone in difficulty.
Address, Lieut.-Col. REES, 20 Albert St., Toronto, marked "Enquiry" on envelope.
One Dollar should be sent with every case, where possible, to help defray expenses. In case of reproduction of photograph, $2.00 extra. (Price of Card)

Officers, Soldiers, and Friends are requested to assist us by looking regularly through the Missing Column, and to notify Col-Rees if able to give information concerning any case, always stating name and number of same.

INFORMATION URGENTLY WANTED.

3155. DIXON, JOHN AND ESSIE.
Born at Richmond-on-Thames, Ont., son
by brother Fred at Newington (Ont.)
School; John about 10, Essie younger.
Fred Abroad, missing.

3156. CROFT, IVOR JOHN. Age 19; dark, clean shaven; missing by trade. The last heard of 18 months ago, then living
in Owen Sound, working on the C.P.R.
News wanted.

3157. WILLIAMS, WILLIAM. Came to Canada about 30 years ago from England. Was employed on the C.P.R. He is believed to have taken to drinking. His last heard of 18 months ago, then living
in Owen Sound, working on the C.P.R.
News wanted.

3158. HOBART, ERNEST A. W. Age
26, fairly tall, dark hair, blue-grey eyes, dark complexion, and engineer by trade.
Was born on back of deck, from Toronto,
last known address Hamilton, Ont. With him Old Land most anxious for news.

3159. QUINN, WILLIAM. Age 40,
height 6 ft. 2 in., blue eyes, dark hair,
fair complexion, sandy moustache; last heard of 18 months ago, then living in West Indies. Sister most anxious for news.

3160. DOREY, JAS. ROBT. From Telford, N.S.; one 24, height 5 ft. 10 in., dark complexion, father; last heard of 18 months ago, then living in Owen Sound, working on the C.P.R. News wanted.

3161. KERNSTANSON, ANTON. At JANSEN CHURCH, N. York, and in last heard of 18 months ago in a camp in Ontario. News wanted.

3162. JONAS, PETER. Age 22,
height 6 ft. 2 in., blue eyes, dark hair,
fair complexion, and engineer by trade.
Was born on back of deck, from Toronto,
last known address Hamilton, Ont. With
him Old Land most anxious for news.

3163. APPERLOOM, GEORGE. Age 22,
height 6 ft. 2 in., blue eyes, dark hair,
fair complexion, and engineer by trade.
Was born on back of deck, from Toronto,
last known address Hamilton, Ont. With
him Old Land most anxious for news.

3164. HERRICK, WILLIAM. Age 22,
height 6 ft. 2 in., blue eyes, dark hair,
fair complexion, and engineer by trade.
Was born on back of deck, from Toronto,
last known address Hamilton, Ont. With
him Old Land most anxious for news.

3165. JARROLD, EDWARD. Age 22,
height 6 ft. 2 in., blue eyes, dark hair,
fair complexion, and engineer by trade.
Was born on back of deck, from Toronto,
last known address Hamilton, Ont. With
him Old Land most anxious for news.

3166. PRINCE, WILLIAM. Age 22,
height 6 ft. 2 in., blue eyes, dark hair,
fair complexion, and engineer by trade.
Was born on back of deck, from Toronto,
last known address Hamilton, Ont. With
him Old Land most anxious for news.

3167. MCCOY, WILLIAM. Age 22,
height 6 ft. 2 in., blue eyes, dark hair,
fair complexion, and engineer by trade.
Was born on back of deck, from Toronto,
last known address Hamilton, Ont. With
him Old Land most anxious for news.

3168. MCCOY, WILLIAM. Age 22,
height 6 ft. 2 in., blue eyes, dark hair,
fair complexion, and engineer by trade.
Was born on back of deck, from Toronto,
last known address Hamilton, Ont. With him Old Land most anxious for news.

THE WAR CRY.

AND OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF THE SALVATION ARMY IN CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND

Thirtieth Year.

W. BRAMWELL BOOTH, General.

TORONTO, JUNE 7, 1915.

DAVID M. REES, Commissioner. Price, Five Cents.

An Impossible Task: The Past cannot hide your Sin--But God will Forgive

FOR MINE EYES ARE UPON ALL THEIR WAYS: THEY ARE NOT HID FROM MY FACE, NEITHER IS THEIR INIQUITY HID FROM MINE EYES.—JEREMIAH XVI. 17.